

WALL STREET LATE RALLY CUTS DOWN DECLINES IN STOCK LIST

Selling Early Believed to Represent Profit-Taking—Liquidation of Copper Shares a Feature of Day.

FIVE-HOUR TRADING SESSION RESUMED

The Pending Three-Day Suspension of Business, Beginning With Thanksgiving Holiday, Tends to Hold Down Trading.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Normal trading sessions were resumed on the New York Stock Exchange today, and prices drifted lower in trading. Extreme declines of 1 to 12 points in the active issues were substantially cut down in a mid-afternoon rally. General Electric regained all but a point of its 11-point decline, while U. S. Steel common closed fractionally higher at 16 1/2 after having been down to 15 1/2.

Call money held steady at 4 1/2 per cent all day, although loans were arranged in the outside market at substantially below that figure. Time money was quoted at 5 per cent for all maturities as against a maximum rate of 5 1/2 per cent last week.

Business generally was favorable although rumors that independent copper producers were making the offer rate of 15 cents in copper and the failure of adoption of plans for a merger of Montgomery Ward and Hartman Corporation caused some uneasiness. Wall street received considerable encouragement from the announcement of higher dividends on Phillips Petroleum, International Match and Colgate Palmolive.

Early selling was believed to represent profit-taking by traders. The experimental short selling to test the character of the bids in the market also was in evidence, but with the Stock Exchange still demanding daily statements of short position from its members, such selling was rather cautious in character.

Coppers failed to make much recovery from the low levels. Anaconda and Nevada Consolidated closed nearly 3 points lower at 78 and 29 1/2, respectively. Kennecott showed a net loss of 3 at 59 and American Smelting 3 1/2 at 73 1/2.

Copper, making its first appearance since before the beginning of the big bear, sold at 12 1/2, a drop of 100 points below the previous quotation.

Declines of 1 to 3 points. Not declines of 1 to 3 points were registered by such widely diversified issues as American Can, Radio, Consolidated Gas, Westinghouse Electric, Paramount-Famous, International Nickel, National Biscuit, Underwood-Elliott, Fisher, Goodyear Rubber and International Telephone.

In the commodity markets, wheat closed on a loss about a cent a bushel. Cotton showed little change.

Foreign exchanges were irregular, with the establishment of a new 1929 high by German marks and a new low by Spanish pesetas and the contrasting features.

Paris Market Irregular.
PARIS, Nov. 25.—Today's opening of the Paris bourse was dull and heavy. Government bonds, however, were firm, the 3 per cent rentes being quoted at 81.05 and the 5 per cent loan at 85.65.

Today's session was quiet. The tendency was heavy, although governments including Rio and Rome reacted slightly. The close was irregular.

Closing stock prices, with other tables and market news, will be found on Pages 13C, 14C and 15C.

VIRGINIAN OBJECTS TO FORD'S REMOVAL OF COLONIAL HOME

Plan to "Transport It Like So Much Merchandise," Called "Affront."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The Washington Society of Alexandria regards the proposal of Henry Ford to buy one of the historic colonial homes there and "transport it like so much merchandise to Dearborn, Mich.," as an affront to the entire state of Virginia.

John B. Gordon, chairman of the standing committee of the Washington Society, in a statement said:

"The historic homes are a part of the historic environment of George Washington. The men who built them, lived in them and died in them after lives of glorious service to the colony and later the nation, rest within a few rods of their old dwellings. What could they think of a generation which would sell the homes of their history-making forebears to be dismantled and transported to a strange environment?"

"If Mr. Ford is interested in the preservation of the antiquities of colonial Virginia, he is urged to respond to the repeated appeals of Alexandrians that he participate in the restoration work which has been continuously carried on by Alexandria citizens for the past several years."

He suggested that Ford's proposal might not have been properly quoted.

Reed C. Peters of Omaha Trust Company Seeks Death Under Moving Truck

By the Associated Press.
OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 25.—Reed C. Peters, executive vice president of the Peters Trust Co., which closed its doors today, attempted to kill himself this morning by throwing himself beneath a moving truck on a downtown street intersection. His skull probably was fractured and one leg fractured.

He suffered other severe injuries. Peters was taken to a hospital, where it was said his condition was serious.

Peters, who is 40 years old, made at least one other attempt to kill himself during the day. He tried to throw himself under the wheels of a truck backing into a loading dock. R. A. Randazzo, driver of the truck, stopped in time and pulled Peters from underneath the machine.

Afterward Peters walked a short distance and threw himself under a heavy transfer truck driven by Harry Coo. Coo said Peters ran from between two cars and threw himself under the front wheels before he could stop. The front wheels passed over his body.

Liquidation assets of the Peters Trust Co., one of the largest in Nebraska, was ordered today by the District Court, on petition of the State Department of Trade and Commerce, and at the request of the company. Receivership will be handled by Clarence G. Ellis, State banking secretary.

No loss was expected except to stockholders of the company, the announcement said. With a capital stock of $600,000, more than $300,000 has been advanced for interest, taxes and mortgage payments by the company for its investors, officers said.

Howard Kennedy is trust officer of the company, for estates, escrows and other trusts amounting to over $12,000,000. He will continue in that capacity.

"Action taken today," said Paul Martin, attorney for the company, "marks termination of the situation which developed as a result of the general agricultural deflation of 1920."

$100,000 SENT BY PLANE
TO BANK AT MACON, MO.

A shipment of $100,000 in currency was sent by airplane today by the First National Bank to the State Exchange Bank of Macon, Mo., a correspondent depository.

Two First National officers accompanied the cargo, which was sent this morning.

According to E. E. Holderness, vice president of the First National, the Macon bank wanted to have a large cash reserve on hand this morning.

Chris K. Marney, president of the State Exchange Bank, said by telephone that no unusual condition obtained in his bank. He declined to comment further.

The total resources of the bank are $1,500,000, with deposits of $1,250,000.

KELLOGG IS NOBEL POSSIBILITY

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 25.—Among the candidates whose names have come before the committee which will award the Nobel peace prize is that of Frank B. Kellogg, former United States Secretary of State and co-worker with Foreign Minister Briand in bringing about the Kellogg-Briand renunciation of war pact.

HOOVER CONSULTS FARM LEADERS ON EXPORT TRADE

Last of Series of Conferences Held on Economic Expansion—Hyde Takes Part.

BUSINESS MEN TO FORM COMMITTEE

President to Address Group of 150 Invited by Chamber of Commerce to Meet Dec. 5.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—With a meeting of agricultural leaders, President Hoover today reached the end of the series of conferences through which he has undertaken to stimulate industrial activity and stabilize business conditions.

To supplement his recent discussions with spokesmen for the manufacturing, railroad, banking, building and labor fields, the chief executive summoned to the White House officers of the leading farm organizations for consideration of what the agricultural industry can contribute to the program that he has mapped out.

As with previous conferences, Mr. Hoover called in the secretary of the department most interested in this case Secretary Hyde; and in addition invited Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board to be present.

To Stimulate Exports.
Of particular significance to today's gathering was a discussion of plans for increasing agricultural exports, a project to which Mr. Hoover has given much attention.

In making the first announcement of his plans, the president placed the desirability of expanded foreign trade in farm products beside that of increased construction activities.

Before meeting the President, heads of the farm organizations were in conference during the forenoon with Secretary Hyde at the Department of Agriculture. The Secretary was able to outline many of the details of the situation to the farm leaders with particular attention to export possibilities as a means of disposing of the surplus crops.

Among those who came here in response to the President's invitation were Louis J. Tabor of the National Grange, C. F. Huff of the Farmers Union, and Samuel H. Thompson of the Farm Bureau Federation.

Governors Pledge Aid.
In reply to the President's request for co-operation to promote business progress and prevent unemployment, an enormous program of public works was outlined to President Hoover today by the Governors of a number of states in telegrams received at the White House.

Upon reaching his office in the early forenoon Mr. Hoover found waiting for him messages received over the week-end from the Governors of 17 states. Others came in during the day.

Most of them gave specific figures as to the cost of various kinds of public works which have been contracted for or which will be undertaken by states, municipalities and counties during the next six months. All promised hearty co-operation in the move to speed up and expand the programs so far as may be done with public funds.

Chairman Dowell of the House Roads Committee announced today that he would seek an increase from $75,000,000 to $125,000,000 in the annual authorization for Federal highway aid for the fiscal years 1931 and 1932 in response to a general movement over the country for expansion of road building programs.

Between 150 and 200 prominent business men, representing many phases of industrial and commercial enterprises, are to attend a meeting Dec. 5 under the auspices of the United States Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of forming a permanent committee to see that the economic life of the nation is kept even at all times.

The establishment of such a body was recommended by the group of industrial leaders which met Mr. Hoover last week and was undertaken by Julius Barnes, chairman of the board of directors of the Chamber.

In the letter of invitation to the Dec. 5 meeting, Barnes disclosed that President Hoover will open the session with an informal address discussing the purposes of his business progress program.

quinting these present with the accomplishments of his campaign for economic stabilization.

The letter, signed by Barnes and William Butterworth, president of the Chamber, was prepared for transmittal today. It asserted that Mr. Hoover's conferences of 1st week showed a business situation

THANKSGIVING TURKEY, AT 35
TO 40 CTS., CHEAPEST IN YEARS

Chickens, Ducks and Geese Also Lower in Price Than at This Time in 1928.

The price of Thanksgiving poultry, particularly turkey, is substantially lower this year than in 1928. Turkeys, which sold last year at 49 to 55 cents a pound, may be purchased this year at from 35 to 40 cents a pound. The average price, according to a large poultry dealer, will be about 35 cents a pound. A large grocery chain system advertised turkeys at 35 cents today.

Chickens are quoted at from 30 to 35 cents a pound in contrast with 37 and 45 cents last year. Ducks, which sold in 1928 for 25 and 42 cents a pound, this year will cost about the same as chickens; and geese are priced at from 25 to 35 cents a pound—two cents cheaper than last Thanksgiving time.

"Turkeys are cheaper than they have been for 12 years," a commission dealer said. "We have an increased production, and a drop from 25 to 30 per cent, which accounts for the lower price."

NAVY SPEED FLYER KILLED IN A DIVE OF 10,000 FEET

Lieut. George T. Cuddihy, Testing British Bristol, When Craft Buries Self 10 Feet in Ground.

LAI TO DEFECTS IN CONSTRUCTION

Persons at Washington Field Say Pilot, Who Had Set Records, Lost Control of Ship.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Lieut. George T. Cuddihy, one of the Navy's experienced pilots, was killed today when the British Bristol Bulldog airplane he was testing crashed in a dive from a 10,000-foot altitude and buried itself so far in the earth that only the feet of its pilot were visible above the ground.

The crash occurred at 9:53 a. m. Cuddihy had taken the plane aloft to test it. The ship, an all-metal single-seater, had been delivered to the Navy only last week. It was constructed to make 180 miles an hour, with full military load, and is of the class of latest fighting ships used by the British air force.

Lost Control at 6000 Feet.
Visibility was none too good when the veteran Navy pilot took the craft aloft. Persons at the air station estimated he lost control at an altitude of 6000 feet.

Officers at the naval air station said that as the plane careened downward, a part of it broke away and fluttered off to land by itself. They were unable to say just what part had snapped under the strain, but said an investigation would be started at once. As the ship rushed nearer the earth, they added, its speed could be seen to increase in ever larger spirals.

Buries Itself 10 Feet.
The ship crashed in a low part of the field rendered soft by the snow. Through this engine plowed, throwing turf and dirt in all directions. It buried itself to a depth of 10 feet, cutting a hole large enough to carry much of the structural part with it.

Water from the soggy field filled the hole immediately, hampering the work of reaching the Lieutenant's body.

Air station officers said Cuddihy specifically was testing the plane's diving speed. He had reached an estimated elevation of two miles before entering the dive, and when he attempted to pull out of the dive, they said, the ship tore downward nose first at terrific speed.

The Navy Department said later that structural failure was thought to have been responsible.

It took navy enlisted men an hour and a half to extricate the body of the pilot from beneath the engine and mass of twisted wreckage in the hole. A power pump had to be used to clear water from the hole as the body jackets dug.

Parachute Strapped to Back.
Cuddihy's parachute was found strapped to his back, the release strings apparently untouched. Flying officers were perplexed over this, being unable to advance any reason why he had not attempted to jump, except that he might not have realized the ship was out of control until too late. The dive was deliberate for the purpose of the test and apparently there had been ample time for use of the parachute.

Cuddihy was one of the navy's racing pilots. He was born at Alto, Mich., in 1896. His mother, Mrs. A. K. Cuddihy, lives at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Set Seaplane Record.
In 1927 Cuddihy established a world record for seaplane speed at 188 miles an hour and the following year piloted a navy plane in the Schneider cup race.

He graduated from the naval academy in 1917, serving until 1921 on the U. S. S. Mississippi. In that year he entered the aviation service.

Cuddihy, in 1924, won the National Air Races at Philadelphia. A year later he undertook successfully an extended flight over the Andes Mountains in South America.

Earlier in his aviation career he helped organize the first fighting plane squadron in the Navy.

He was assigned here last July as chief test officer at the Anacostia Station. He was an honor graduate from Annapolis. A few months ago an airplane he was piloting went into a tail spin, and unable to right it, Cuddihy climbed out of the cockpit to jump. The shift of his weight ended the spin and he crawled back into his seat and brought the ship down safely.

PARIS, Nov. 25.—The canon of the Armistice at noon today began the 101-gun salute which would arrive for Christmas, but on the usual sled drawn by reindeer.

HITCHCOCK, STAGE COMEDIAN, DIES IN AUTOMOBILE

Stricken With Heart Attack When He and Wife Reach Driveway of Beverly Hills, Cal., Home.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 25.—Raymond Hitchcock, 44 years old, musical comedy and moving picture actor, died here suddenly early today from a heart attack.

He and his wife were returning to their Beverly Hills home after a short automobile trip. When they reached the driveway to their home, Hitchcock gasped and fell on his wife's shoulder. He died almost immediately.

Hitchcock, who came to Hollywood several years ago to enter motion pictures, had been subject to heart attacks for several years, friends said.

Born in Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 22, 1885, Hitchcock made his first stage appearance in 1910. After appearing in minor roles in many New York comedies, he achieved success in "Kinky Doodle," a fantastic musical play, in which he held the title role for two years.

His first real starring vehicle was as Abilash Boone in "The Yankee Consul," in which he toured the country after a prolonged run in the Broadway Theater, New York.

One of his most outstanding successes was scored in "Hitchy Koo," produced at the Cohan & Harris Theater in New York in 1917.

Mrs. Hitchcock said her husband had been ill for seven months. He spent some time in Chicago, then moved to Colorado Springs, Colo., and also into a nine-week stay in Kansas City, undergoing treatment for influenza. He returned to Beverly Hills about three weeks ago.

Fired Five Times as Shoe Salesman Before Going on Stage.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—Raymond Hitchcock began his stage career in Philadelphia in 1891, a few days after he was dismissed from his position as shoe salesman and guardian of the rubber stock room in John Wanamaker's store. Mr. Wanamaker had discharged his angular young shoe clerk four times before, but each time Hitchcock joked his way back into his job.

After failing in an attempt to get work with Carnegies Minstrels, who were then in town, Hitchcock walked into the Grand Opera House and enlisted in the chorus of the Carleton Opera company. His first appearance was in "The Brigands." He carried a spear all that season and studied acting. He joined "The Little Tycoon" company, playing a bit and also singing in the chorus.

In later years Hitchcock boasted that as a chorus man he never lost a spangie. His next engagement was as a comedian in an operatic repertoire company. Returning to Philadelphia, he went to the Bijou Theatre, with Milton Aborn as coproducer at $35 a week, singing in tabloid operas. On holidays they played as many as 11 shows between 10 o'clock in the morning at 12 at night.

He was then offered a job as manager of a company to provide

BROKER BETTS TOOK POISON OUT OF PRIDE, WITNESS SAYS

Francis Bro. Prepares to Take Over Business Which Is Solvent if Properly Liquidated, They Say

A telephone message from the New York Stock Exchange last Friday, ordering him to sell his seat on that exchange because his business statement did not show a sufficient margin of assets over liabilities, prompted the suicide of John F. Betts, widely known stock and bond broker, who drank poison the following day at his residence, 5150 Westminster place.

This was disclosed today after a coroner's verdict of suicide while suffering from a temporary mental aberration had been returned.

Inquiry also disclosed that Betts carried $125,000 of life insurance, most of which was pledged for loans. One of his creditors, Francis Bro. & Co., announced they were arranging to take over his customers' accounts, being convinced his estate is solvent and can pay creditors in full "if the business is liquidated in an orderly way."

Doctor Testifies.
At the inquest conducted by Coroner Cady, without a jury, Dr. R. M. Flanagan, 3701 Westminster, Betts' family physician for the last four years, quoted Betts' widow, who was unable to attend the inquest, as saying he "killed himself through pride."

"He had been giving financial advice to a great number of friends," Dr. Flanagan explained to the coroner. "When things did not go as expected, the friends began importuning him, hounding him. This worried him greatly."

"I think the finishing touch was a telegram he received from the East Friday advising him he would have to sell his seat on the New York Stock Exchange."

Questioned as to this, Betts' secretary for the last 15 years, Miss Rose L. McDonnell, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter:

"I was hoping that wouldn't come out. That's the reason he killed himself. It was just pride. It was not a telegram, but a long-distance telephone message he received from the New York Stock Exchange, instructing him he would have to sell his seat because he didn't have enough money. Understand, he was perfectly solvent and all that, but the exchange likes its members to have a large margin. The exchange had called upon all its members for a statement the week before and his statement was not satisfactory."

"All his life he had been working to get a seat on the New York Exchange. He wanted that more than anything else."

As has been told, the exchange seat for which Betts paid $475,000 cash two months ago, had declined $125,000 in market value, arrangements having been announced last Thursday for sale of a seat at $350,000. The decline was attributed to the recent collapse in stock prices.

John F. Betts Jr., 21-year-old son and business associate of the broker, described details of the suicide already published; how his father, who had been unable to sleep and had walked the floor most of the night, swallowed poison in the kitchen while his wife was preparing breakfast for him. The son said he found an empty bottle labeled poison and an empty cup which smelled of poison on the kitchen table. The poison had been kept in the kitchen as a disinfectant.

Inasmuch as the younger Betts had been quoted as saying his father's losses through refusal to sell out marginal accounts of customers would amount to more than $150,000, he was questioned on this point by the coroner. He said his father did not discuss his business very much with him, and added: "I think father thought he was worth off than he was."

Betts worked all night Friday at his office and made no threats to end his life, the son said.

"He was just all worn out," the son concluded.

One of Betts' last acts, the son

FRANCIS WARREN, FOR FORTY YEARS U. S. SENATOR, DIES

Wyoming Member of Upper House, of 35 Years' Continuous Service, Dies of Pneumonia at 85.

HEAD OF COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS

Gen. Pershing, His Son-in-Law, at Beside at End—State Funeral in Washington Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—United States Senator Francis E. Warren, of Wyoming, a veteran of the pioneering days of the West, who came to Washington to serve longer in the United States Senate than any other man in history, died yesterday morning. He was 85 years old. He was a member of the Senate continuously for nearly 35 years.

With his wife, his son Fred, and his son-in-law, Gen. John J. Pershing, at his bedside, the aged Senator succumbed to an attack of pneumonia and bronchitis.

The Senate will honor his memory with a state funeral tomorrow in the Senate Chamber and afterward delegations from both houses of Congress will escort the body to Wyoming where it will be buried.

Hoover to Attend Funeral.
President Hoover will attend the funeral services. It will be the second time within a month that the chief executive has gone to the Senate to pay tribute to the dead. He attended services for Theodore E. Burton, Senator, from Ohio, who died Oct. 28.

In addition to President Hoover, the Cabinet members, Justices of the Supreme Court and other high Government officials are expected to attend the services. The survivors of the war between the States in the House, Maj. Charles M. Stedman of North Carolina, who fought for the Confederacy, was today chosen to be the youngest member of the 70 House members at the funeral.

Senator Warren had been ill for three weeks. Several times he rallied and seemed on the way to recovery, but a turn for the worse on Saturday night so weakened his condition that he sank rapidly thereafter.

Robust and Hard Worker in Senate.
In spite of his years, Mr. Warren had the reputation of being one of the Senate's hardest workers, and the robustness of his constitution was a source of amazement to his friends. Many times he sat through an all-night filibuster, while younger members sought their beds. He scorned the elevators at the Capitol, always using the stairs in going back and forth between the Senate chamber and his office.

With the advent of the Harding administration in 1921, Senator Warren became chairman of the Appropriations Committee, in which post he served until his death. In this capacity he on the Senate's ability of guiding through the Senate legislation providing billions of dollars for the conduct of the Government.

His death left some uncertainty as to who his successor as chairman will be. Senator Smoot of Utah, the ranking Republican on the committee, is chairman of the Finance Committee, a post he is not expected to relinquish for the appropriations chairmanship, and Senator Jones of Washington, next in line, is chairman of the Commerce Committee and his views on the relative desirability of the two committee chairmanships are unknown.

Hoover's Tribute.
President Hoover led official Washington in paying tribute to the deceased legislator. He issued this statement:

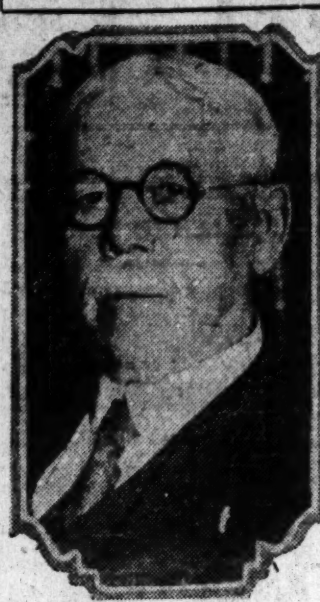

"Senator Warren began his public service with four years as a private and officer in the Civil War. Mayor of his city, Governor of his State, Senator for nearly 40 years, every stage of his life was marked by increasing industry and by devotion to national welfare. His span of life covers a generation fast passing, among those leaders he played a great part and to whom we of this generation owe much of our splendid inheritance."

Senator Warren was the third member of the Senate and the twelfth member of Congress to die within the last nine months. Less than a month ago, Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio died after a lingering illness, and in August, Senator Lawrence D. Tyson of Tennessee died.

Nine members of the House have died within less than a year. They were, O. J. Kvale of Minnesota, Leslie J. Steele of Georgia, John J. Casey of Pennsylvania, Whitwell P. Harts of Kentucky, Charles W. Roark of Kentucky, Royal H. Weller of New York, Edward J. King of Illinois, Charles L. Faust of Missouri, and William A. Oldfield of Arkansas.

Service Dated From Beginning of Statehood.
No man now in the Senate was a member of Congress when Francis Emory Warren came to the Fifty-first Congress Dec. 1,

OLDEST SENATOR DIES

FRANCIS E. WARREN, of Wyoming.

1890, as one of the first Senators of the newly-created state of Wyoming. From that time he kept his seat continuously, except for a lapse in 1893 when the Wyoming Legislature deadlocked over the election.

Born at Hinsdale, Mass., June 20, 1844, Senator Warren left school at an early age after his father suffered financial reverses and he was obliged to go to work on the farm. What education he got after that he had to arrange for out of his own funds, but he was able to spend three years at an academy before he hired himself out to a neighborhood farmer who made him manager of the place before he was 18 years old.

Awarded Congressional Medal.
When the war between the states started, young Warren wanted to enlist, but his father forbade him to do so until he was 18. Then he joined the Forty-ninth Massachusetts Regiment, and participated in the siege of Fort Hudson, La. He was one of the volunteers in the "forlorn hope" who preceded a column storming Fort Hudson to fill up with faeces the ditch in front of the earthworks. Three-fourths of this force was killed or wounded and Warren himself was stunned by a fragment of a shell.

This was May 27, 1862. Thirty years later he was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, the order of award reciting that he volunteered in response to a call and took part in the movement that was made upon the enemy's works under a heavy fire therefrom in advance of the general assault.

After he was mustered out, Warren returned to farming in his native State, but the lure of the West seized him and he became foreman of a construction crew on the Rock Island Railroad in Iowa. Soon a friend wrote him an offer to become manager of a mercantile firm in Cheyenne and he accepted. Upon his arrival at the Wyoming city, he found a boom town—two bands were at the station, drumming up trade, as Warren learned, for rival gambling houses. Cheyenne was a city of tents, camps and a column storming Fort Hudson to fill up with faeces the ditch in front of the earthworks. Three-fourths of this force was killed or wounded and Warren himself was stunned by a fragment of a shell.

Soon a friend wrote him an offer to become manager of a mercantile firm in Cheyenne and he accepted. Upon his arrival at the Wyoming city, he found a boom town—two bands were at the station, drumming up trade, as Warren learned, for rival gambling houses. Cheyenne was a city of tents, camps and a column storming Fort Hudson to fill up with faeces the ditch in front of the earthworks. Three-fourths of this force was killed or wounded and Warren himself was stunned by a fragment of a shell.

FEDERAL GIFT TAX UPHOLD BY U. S. SUPREME COURT

Justices Sutherland, Butler and Van Devanter Dissent in the Opinion, Saying Levy Is Direct One.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Gift taxes imposed under the Federal revenue law were held valid today by the Supreme Court in a case brought by Joseph H. Bromley, Philadelphian, Pa., who was required to pay a tax of $20,598 on gifts, totaling $583,300. The Court passed on the gift tax imposed under the 1924 revenue act and amended under the 1926 tax law. Bromley contended the gifts were not made in contemplation of death and that the tax was illegal because direct and not apportioned to taxmen, like any other method of transfer.

The Government argued Congress had authority to make disposition of property by gift subject to tax, like any other method of transfer. Justices Sutherland, Butler and Van Devanter dissented in the opinion. They took the position the tax was a direct one, and that it had been invalidly imposed because it was not apportioned as required by the Constitution in imposing direct taxes.

The gift tax applies to all classes of property given away. One reason it was enacted was to prevent persons from escaping payment of the Federal inheritance tax by giving away cash. The court said the gift tax was a direct one, and that it had been invalidly imposed because it was not apportioned as required by the Constitution in imposing direct taxes.

was notification to the populace that the body of Georges Clemenceau, war-time Premier of France, had been lowered to its last resting place in the hills of its native Vendee, near Mouchamps.

The roar of guns, located on the parade grounds of Des Invalides, reverberated through the city, and Frenchmen stopped and raised their hats in their own salute to the statesman who died yesterday morning.

Paris could not hear but every French battery throughout the republic and its possessions and every French warship on the high seas joined in the salute of 101 guns.

Tardieu's Tribute.
Speaking from the tribune that was the scene of many of Clemenceau's own triumphs, Premier Tardieu, in the Chamber of Deputies, paid tribute to Clemenceau. He said he could best render homage by seeking in his career an inspiration for the future of France, and he appealed to the French people to labor incessantly for the development and progress of their country.

"Clemenceau loved only action," said Tardieu. "Let us honor him by doing likewise. Let us ever remain dear to the doubt that paralyzes. Let us forever be animated by the faith in France and in republicanism that consoles and while the triumph of our liberties, being convinced that if the word 'destiny' is the excuse of the weak, it is also the work of the strong."

The Premier urged his fellow citizens to dedicate themselves to the service of peace, "which our generation must organize and consolidate."

He insisted that France would thus embody the virtues that Clemenceau taught and that brought real victory to France.

"Clemenceau gave our republic the only consecration that places governments beyond and above the attacks of parties, that of an unjust war justly won."

"He epitomized in his personality two great French moral forces, the two passions that have controlled and dominated our history: National independence and democratic liberty."

Communists Stay Away.
Bouisson, president of the Chamber, presided over the funeral. As he rose to deliver his funeral oration, the signal for the house to rise was given by Premier Tardieu, and the Deputies listened to the funeral oration.

The commission after a hearing gave its approval to the construction of the station, but took the position it was without power to compel the railroad to construct it. This position was defended on the ground that various questions involved in the erection of a union station, such as its location, its architecture, its traffic arrangements, the opening or closing of streets, properly belonged to the state.

TEXT OF HOOVER MESSAGE ON DEATH OF CLEMENCEAU.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—A cablegram expressing the sympathy of America for France in the tragedy of Georges Clemenceau, was sent by President Hoover yesterday to President Doumergue of France. The message read:

"Georges Clemenceau was a great patriot, a great statesman, a great citizen inspired his fellow men. He was a valiant advocate of peace, who knew how to meet nobly the tragedy of his death. His death was a great loss to France, and we deeply regretted by men of good will in all nations. I send you my sincere sympathy and that of the American people."

MACDONALD GOVERNMENT WINS INSURANCE BILL TEST.
LONDON, Nov. 25.—The Labor government won a victory today when an opposition amendment to the bill for the unemployment insurance bill was defeated 299 to 313 and the bill was given second reading.

The Liberals supported the government.

yielded to hostile or superior forces. "That constitutes his true grandeur." He conceived him as of granite like his native Vendee. He had behind him all the people of France and when later he sought isolation he asked only for silence about him.

"He was like one of those ages of Greece or India whom he admired and who nourished his thought," continued the President.

"To Georges Clemenceau who served and honored the Republic of France, I give here solemn homage in the name of all Parliament."

The body of Clemenceau left the Capital at 2 a. m. today on the way to its last resting place. There was no muffled drum beat, no oratory, no acclamation. The former Premier's last request was carried out to the letter and the departure was marked by the simplicity and calm he desired.

A hearse drove up before the light in front of the dead statesman's door, the only light kept thereabout in the dimly illuminated street. Four men dressed in black went inside the courtyard and in a few minutes emerged with the light oak coffin, which they placed inside the hearse.

Only a little group, composed of Gen. Henri Gouraud, Prefect of Police Chappe, the artist Gilbert Bellan, and a few neighbors witnessed the removal.

After the hearse four automobiles drove up and 10 guests, those invited by Clemenceau himself in his last hours, emerged from the house and, saluting the little group of spectators, found their places inside the cars.

An automobile containing the special police commissary, Dupin de la Fourcade, took the lead and the cortege started on its 250-mile journey. Four men dressed in black, hatless, walked as the procession receded into the night.

Honor of Burial Kept Secret.
A few minutes later the conveyance passed the Porte d'Orleans, a southern exit from the city. The route followed to the place of burial at Mouchamps and the hour of burial were kept secret by the Government, so desirous was it to carry out the last wishes of the former Premier.

As Clemenceau desired his body was not embalmed. It was placed in an inner shell of pine lined with white satin, with his cane and a little bit of earth from the battlefield of Verdun. The shell was sealed up in a lead covering and the whole enclosed in an oak coffin having gilt handles and a brass plate bearing the inscription, "Georges Clemenceau."

Premier Tardieu arranged that at the hour of burial there should be a formal salute of 101 guns which first the salute of the armistice. David Lloyd George made a speech regretting the incident, but it was cold in tone. He (Clemenceau) just bowed his head. I jumped to my feet saying that to know him was to love him. Clemenceau never lost his keen sense of humor," said Wallace.

"While tenacious and combative, Clemenceau never lost his keen sense of humor," said Wallace. "He often spoke with affection of the years spent in the United States. I saw Clemenceau in victory, but also in the cruel hour of personal defeat. The Supreme Council concluded its labors the day after he was so dramatically defeated by Deschamps for the presidency of the Republic. GIFT FOR CAMPUS AND STADIUM AT ST. LOUIS U. MADE Generous Donation Given by Mrs. Julia Walsh in Memory of Son, Edward, Who Died in 1928.

A "very generous gift" has been made to St. Louis University by Mrs. Julia Walsh in memory of her son, Edward, who died in 1928. The gift is a plot of land on the site of the new stadium, which will be used for the construction of a new gymnasium.

While the amount of the gift was not announced, the Rev. Charles H. Cloud, S. J., president of the university, said it was generous enough to permit preparation of the campus and construction of the first unit of the stadium. The size of the unit has not been determined, the plans being only in tentative form.

In making the gift, Mrs. Walsh requested that the campus and stadium be a memorial to her son, the late Edward Joseph Walsh Jr., and therefore they will be designated the Walsh Memorial Field and the Walsh Memorial Stadium.

Mr. Walsh was graduated from St. Louis University in June, 1902, with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. He was athletic and after his graduation continued his interest in athletic affairs. At the time of his death, June 2, 1928, he was a member of the University Athletic Council and the president's personal advisory committee.

It will be recalled that President Cloud, in 1925, declared St. Louis University's development in athletics had not kept pace with the development of the other departments. The first step to remedy this was construction of a new gymnasium, on West Pine boulevard near Spring avenue, completed at a cost of $400,000 in November, 1928. At the same time the 10-acre site on Oakland avenue was purchased on the west of the site of St. Louis University High School.

Father Cloud's Comment. In announcing the present plans for improvement of that site through Mrs. Walsh's gift, President Cloud commented: "While these developments in athletics and physical education should further university spirit among the student body and interest in the university among its alumni and friends, I must here repeat that these developments are, by no means, intended to over-stress the importance of athletics in the life of the university. Athletics in a school, such as ours, must always be considered a means to an end, and therefore, must and will be kept subordinate to scholarly achievements."

The site of the prospective Walsh memorial stadium is across Oakland avenue from the location in Forest Park where Park Commissioners Pape has proposed the erection of a city-owned stadium. A grassy bowl, to be formed by shaping of the earth taken from the Rives des Peres excavation, is the preliminary stage of the park stadium plan.

BROKEN PIPE CAUSES $25,000 DAMAGE AT GRAND LEADER

Firemen Work Five Hours Repairing Leak; Open for Business Today.

Damage estimated at more than $25,000 was caused yesterday noon by the bursting of a nine-inch water pipe supplying an automatic sprinkler system at the Stix, Baer & Fuller Dry Goods Co. Water from the pipe, which was three feet below the basement floor, reached a depth of eight inches, chiefly damaging men's and women's wearing apparel, Aaron Fuller, president, said in estimating the loss.

Firemen worked for five hours in stopping the leak and pumping water from the basement. Fifty employees of the store, called from their homes, assisted in removing stock to upper floors.

The basement is open for business today, a section of the floor 12 by 25 feet, torn out by the water, having been repaired. The burst pipe was laid about 20 years ago and is thought to have weakened by age.

ADDITION TO RYAN FACTORY AT LAMBERT FIELD PROPOSED

Plans for $75,000 Project Await Approval of Detroit Aircraft Corporation.

Tentative plans for a $75,000 addition to the plant of the Ryan Aircraft Corporation, at Lambert-St. Louis flying field, to provide for an increased production of Ryan broughams and the manufacture of Parks planes are awaiting the approval of executives of the Detroit Aircraft Corporation, of which the Ryan and Parks companies are subsidiaries.

Edward S. Evans, president of the Detroit corporation, said today the Parks manufacturing operations, consisting primarily of construction of training ships, probably will be moved to Lambert field as soon as the Ryan plant increases the facilities. Parks planes were produced originally at Parks Airport, south of East St. Louis, but their output was so small it was decided to produce them temporarily in the Detroit plant.

DESCRIBES SOVIET ATTACK ON RELIGION

Dean Scarlett Declares His
Minded Men.

The Russian Soviet Government, in its campaign against religion, is attacking particularly the more enlightened religious leadership. Dean William Scarlett of Christ Church Cathedral, said in his sermon at Christ Church Cathedral yesterday on "Religion in Russia." Dean Scarlett visited Russia last summer, having made a previous visit in 1926.

"Three years ago," he told his congregation, "I rather felt that this drive against religion by the Government in Russia was primarily against the superstition and obscurantism of the church, but I have changed my mind entirely. The men the Government is after now, more than any others, are the liberal-minded men. The three groups they fear are: First, the progressive men; men trained in modern, scientific methods; they fear the people will flock to them and leave the Government. Secondly, they are afraid of men above denominational division. The rule of the Government has been, 'Divide and conquer.' They sought to encourage jealousy among the churches. Thirdly, the Government fears men who believe in international brotherhood, based on the simple teachings of Christ, because the Government wants a brotherhood based on class."

Dean Scarlett suggested that the campaign of the Soviets against religion was occasioned indirectly by the exiling of Trotsky. The Government's course toward Trotsky aroused a storm of protest, he said, and the rulers sought to divert this feeling by instituting a campaign to break down religion and establish atheism. He expressed the conviction that such a campaign could not succeed, and said that the spirit of martyrdom existed in Russia. The decrees enacted against religion, as cited, were:

"No minister is allowed to preach outside his own church, which prevents all missionary and evangelistic work; no one can preach unless preaching shall have been the order in that church prior to the revolution, which is a blow at nearly all the churches, as there was little preaching prior to the revolution; whatever property the church has must be registered in the name of one man, thus making it easier to confiscate; public schools, which were neutral, are now teaching atheism; religious propaganda is forbidden, likewise the gathering of young people under 18 for religious instruction; churches are forbidden to enter into any other work than that of the religious service, thus abolishing all societies and social activities."

UNION FURNITURE BRANCH AT BARTMER AND HODIAMONT

Concerns Leases L-Shaped Building With 20,000 Square Feet of Floor Space.

A large L-shaped building at 6104-08 Bartmer avenue and 1042-55-57 Hodiamont avenue has been acquired under a long lease by the Union House Furniture Co. for an exchange store. The building has a frontage of 100 feet on Hodiamont and 100 feet on Bartmer. The building, which has a large finished basement, comprises about 20,000 square feet of available floor space, all of which will be occupied by the exchange store.

The Union, whose main store is at 1124 Olive street, now has branch stores at 414 and 415 Franklin avenue, Seventh and Market streets, and at 208 North Twelfth street. It recently began construction of a new building in Maplewood for a branch store. Negotiations have been completed for a store in the 1600 block on North Fourteenth street, and for a building in course of erection in the West End, details of which will be announced later.

OPEN SHOP CLEANING CONCERNS REDUCE WHOLESALE PRICES

A reduction of 10 cents in wholesale cleaning prices of suits and overcoats was announced today by the St. Louis Cleaners and Dyers' Association. The reduction affects approximately 500 neighborhood tailors serving as retail agents for the 12 concerns in the association, which recently returned to open-shop operation.

Under the reduction the cash and carry price to the tailor is now 20 cents a suit or overcoat, instead of 30 cents. Where the tailor requires wagon service of the plant owner the price is 30 cents, in place of 40 cents. Any reduction in the retail prices will rest with the individual tailor and none is known to have been made at this time, officials of the association said.

Ten firms in the association continuing relations with the union have not joined in the reduction in price. Joseph Quinn, secretary of the union, described the price cut as an effort on the part of open-shop operators to retain their retail agents. Officers of the association declined to discuss the reduction.

WET DECLARED WINNER IN PROHIBITION DEBATE

California Grape Grower and Dr. C. T. Wilson Meet in New York.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—E.
Clemens Horst, hop and grape manufacturer, though his millions have grown rapidly, due to prohibition, debated yesterday against it, and won, according to an informal poll, a victory in a debate with Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Board of Christian Temperance and Public Morale. The debate, held in the Hotel Astor and broadcast over WOR, resolved itself into contest to recall quotations from the bible.

Horst quoted the following:
"There is crying for wine in the streets. All joy is darkened and the mirth of the land is gone."
Dr. Wilson countered with quotations so fast and numerous that trained stenographers did not catch them all.

Most of the hall was filled with representatives of various organizations for and against prohibition.
Expenses of the debate were covered by Horst, who came all the way from California for the occasion.

Sections were reserved for the Anti-Saloon League, Church Temperance Society, the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment, Women's Christian Temperance Union, the World League Against Alcohol and American Federation of Labor. The audience showed itself in favor of Horst, if noise be a criterion.

The subject of the debate: "Resolved, That the eighteenth amendment and prohibition are a success and should be continued." was announced by Alexander Woolcott, chairman.

Horst started the Bible quotations by calling attention to the fact that the ordinary citizen who has a few bottles fermenting in a closet can find a precedent in Christ, who made wine. This encouraged Dr. Wilson to open a series of Biblical briefs on drink that used up more than a typewritten page in the stenographic report.

"Mr. Horst," said Dr. Wilson,
"mentioned something about the Bible, saying that Christ made wine and I was going to him that he was welcome to make wine out of water any time he pleased. But if you turn to that old book, you will find that one saying is 'Wine is a mocker, strong drink a brawler, and whosoever erred thereby is not wise.'"

Horst in his final rebuttal expressed indignation at Dr. Wilson's having "made a joke out of the first miracle of Christ."

The audience broke into its greatest conflict of applause here and as soon as Horst announced:
"If Dr. Wilson will give his word he won't tell, I think I can show him within a radius of one block of this very point where we are standing 100 blind pigs or speak-easies."

Referring to his own prosperous $500 acres devoted to grain, hops and grapes, near San Francisco, Horst said he recently received there "a report of the Secretary of Agriculture where he reduced the prices for certifying wine grapes according to their quality for wine-making and where they put into the certificates the quantity of sugar they contain, by which you can see how much alcohol you can get out of your wine grapes.
And that is what they call respect for the Constitution. What a lot of hypocrites!"

LABOR LEADER SLAIN WHILE IN CHICAGO CABARET

Rival for Union Post Rises from Table, and Fires; Pursued and Captured.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Edward Tracy, union labor leader, was killed in a shooting that terrified celebrities of football victories yesterday.

As the orchestra played a college
march, witnesses said, Melville Purves, boyhood companion and later business rival of Tracy, rose from a table and fired and shot him.

While patrons milled confusedly, Purves and three companions rushed from the night club, pursued by Police Sergeant Thomas McCaferry. The sergeant overtook Purves and his brother, William, after a chase through North Side streets. The others escaped.

Melville Purves, according to police, had borne ill-feeling toward Tracy since the latter supplanted him as business agent of the Bulletin Board Hangers' Union.

William Purves was released from Joliet penitentiary three years ago.

Police ordered the Club Arlington closed.

FENCE STOLEN FROM YALE IS SENT BACK BY EXPRESS

Colds Ended Quickly
By Pleasant Formula
Doctors Now Use

QUICK RELIEF—THEN COLD DISAPPEARED!

Experience of Miss Claire Weston, Like Many Here, Shows How Quickly St. Louis People Now End Colds By Home Use of Pleasant Hospital Formula.

Realizing the needless misery and risk caused by neglecting colds, doctors are now recommending a pleasant, hospital certified formula that quickly ends head colds, chest colds or coughs due to colds. And the experience of Miss Claire Weston is typical of what is being accomplished not only in home use by vast numbers of people in St. Louis and vicinity, but even in hospital cases.

Mother Alarmed
Over Severe Cough

Neglecting children's colds is sure to cause needless misery and may risk pneumonia or weaken resistance to other serious diseases. Numbers of people here are using in their own homes the pleasant hospital treatment that gave such quick, sure relief to the little daughter of Mrs. O. F. Stafford.

Mrs. Stafford, for example, called her doctor when her daughter, then, awakened her by harsh coughing. When the doctor arrived the child was breathing with difficulty. Relief started quickly when she gave double strength doses of the Ayer's Cherry Pectoral formula—a hospital certified compound of ingredients approved by the leading clinics. In a few hours congestion had cleared up surprising. And she ate heartily for the first time in several days. In another day or so she was out playing and the cold was completely gone.

Goes Straight to Seat of a Threatening Cold

Miss Weston, for example, awoke with an "achy," irritated feeling in her nose, throat and chest. Instead of ending it at once by prompt treatments, she neglected the cold to go for an automobile ride. That night the cold bothered her so she could not sleep and by morning congestion caused her to fear pneumonia and call the doctor.

Acting on his advice then she took double strength doses of the Ayer's Cherry Pectoral formula—a hospital certified medication of wild cherry, turpentine and other ingredients used to help clear up congestion and drive the cold out of one's system.

Relief began almost instantly when she felt its comforting, healing warmth—from her nose passages deep down into her chest. Congestion began to clear up and by night the "achy" feeling had disappeared. In just a day or so, the doctor reports, all trace of the cold and cough had cleared up entirely.

The Ayer's Pectoral formula is a hospital certified remedy recently perfected as a result of scientific tests by leading hospital physicians working in co-operation with the medical staff of the Ayer laboratories.

Ayer's Pectoral was certified as the best of different widely used formulas tested for head colds, coughs and chest colds because it gave the quickest, surest relief—with absolute safety. It is now featured by all leading druggists.

WHEN a head cold or chest cold makes its appearance in the family, wise housewives wonder what a competent physician would advise. Yet it is not always convenient to call a doctor.

The next best thing is to use a remedy which competent physicians know is quick, safe and dependable!

THAT'S WHY

your druggist so often advises Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. He is guided by certified hospital tests which prove that the Ayer's Pectoral formula brings quick, welcome relief—even in extreme hospital cases—as well as in home use.

CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL ANNIVERSARY PARTY

Tea Tomorrow Afternoon to Celebrate Founding 50 Years Ago.

The fiftieth anniversary of the founding of St. Louis Children's Hospital will be observed tomorrow afternoon with an informal tea at the main building, 500 South Kingshighway. Three St. Louis women who assisted in the organization and were members of the first board of managers will attend. The hospital was opened in 1879 in a two-story brick residence at 2224 Franklin avenue with 15 patients in charge of one matron. At present the hospital has 143 beds in its main building, as well as facilities for 60 patients at the 127-acre Ridge Farm on the Meramec River.

During the existence of the hospital, the number of patients admitted has averaged about 1000 a year. In 1928 it admitted 2952 patients, of whom 50 per cent received free service. The original hospital moved in 1884 to a new building with quarters for 60 patients at Jefferson avenue and Adams street. In 1910 the Martha Parson's Free Hospital for children was merged with the Children's Hospital and in 1914 the present building was occupied. Between 1919 and 1928 24,195 patients were admitted to the main hospital, the average of free patients ranging between 61 and 77 per cent.

The anniversary tea will be held from 3 to 5 o'clock for officers, directors and invited guests. The three founders who will attend are Mrs. Moses Fraley, 4951 Lindell boulevard; Miss Virginia Elizabeth Stevenson, 5206A Waterman avenue, and Mrs. E. A. De Wolf, 5459 Bartmer avenue.

SEARCH ON FOR MILLIONAIRE'S WIFE, MISSING FOR 11 DAYS

State, Municipal and Railroad Police of New York Seek Mrs. Beecher Crouse of Utica.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25. — The "most puzzling disappearance case" in his experience is the way Capt. John H. Ayres of the Missing Persons Bureau characterizes that of Mrs. Beecher Maynards Crouse, wife of a Utica millionaire, who disappeared from her home a week ago Thursday night. Nation-wide search, with more than 50,000 persons engaged in it, has now been begun for the woman, Ayres announced. The searchers include all the State and municipal police of New York, railroad police and Government employees.

Photographs of Mrs. Crouse have been sent through the country and radio broadcasts of her description will continue until the mystery is cleared up or shown to be unsolvable. State police aid was sought by Crouse, husband of the missing woman, a close friend of Gov. Roosevelt and one of the most influential men in Utica.

Through the co-operation of Patrick Crowley, president of the New York Central Railroad, all other railroads in the country are assisting in the search, Ayres added.

BARTENDER GETS 11 MONTHS, $500 FINE, UNDER JONES LAW

Ben Bell Third to Plead Guilty of 25 Indictments Recently.

Ben Bell, bartender in a saloon on the second floor of the Commercial Building, Sixth and Olive, and the third man to plead guilty of 25 indictments for liquor violations under the Jones law by the Federal grand jury, was sentenced to 11 months in the jail at Mexico, Mo., and fined $500 by Federal Judge Faris today. Thus far, 27 persons have been indicted by two Federal grand juries on counts under the Jones amendment to the Volstead act. The first Federal grand jury whose duty it was to apply Jones law provisions to alleged violators, turned in six indictments and then, perturbed, asked the District Attorney to present no more liquor cases. Following its discharge, the present Federal grand jury turned in 21 indictments, naming 25 persons.

The law, providing maximum punishment of five years in jail and fine of $10,000, is subject to discretionary application by judges.

CONVENT GARDEN APARTMENT RECEIVERSHIP SUIT FILED

Owner of $2500 of Its Bonds Charged Preference Is Shown in Payment of Interest.

Suit for the appointment of a receiver for the Convent Garden Apartment property, Pershing and Taylor avenues, was filed in Circuit Court today by the Comfort Printing Specialty Co., described as the holder of $2500 of an $88,000 bond issue outstanding against the property.

The suit is directed against the Estate Development Co., the record owner of the property; Miss Anne M. Stoad, owner of record when the bonds were issued; L. J. Leeson, trustee under the bonds; and the Cytron Mortgage Co., agent for Leeson.

The suit alleges that preference was shown some bondholders in the payment of interest.

NORTHWEST GETS NEEDED RAIN

By the Associated Press. SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 25. — Seattle and other points in the Northwest last night enjoyed the first real rain since September. The downpour brought hope for relief of the waterpower crisis in the Northwest.

A request by Tacoma city officials that the airplane carrier Lexington be docked there and her turbines put into use to supply the municipality with power is expected to be answered from Washington today.

DROPS CASES AGAINST GORDON'S ALLEGED AIDS

Prosecutor Acts in Favor of T. T. Hamilton, Frank Altman, J. J. Kellogg.

Charges of misconduct in office against Theodore T. Hamilton, former Chief Deputy Smoke Inspector, and Frank Altman and John J. Kellogg, former members of the city's Board of Engineers, were dismissed on the motion of Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer today in Judge Butler's division of Court of Criminal Correction.

The recent dismissal by the Court, on a demurrer, of similar charges against Robert R. Gordon, Smoke Commissioner, and the acquittal of George L. Reno, Chief Deputy Inspector of Boilers and Elevators, prompted the prosecutor's action. Schweitzer told the Court today that he and the special prosecutors agreed it would be impossible to make a case against Hamilton, Altman and Kellogg on the same evidence used against Gordon and Reno.

The Prosecution grew out of the operation of a private evening school for stationary engineers by Gordon at his home. The indictments alleged engineers who sought licenses from the Board of Engineers were required to enroll in Gordon's school and pay him fees ranging from $150 to $250.

It is expected reinstatement in office will follow the dismissal of the indictments, inasmuch as Gordon and Reno were returned to their positions promptly. When the five men were suspended in July, following their indictment by the grand jury, Director of Public Service Steininger announced they would be reinstated if the prosecution failed.

TO SEEK PARENT OIL POOL NORTH OF DUPO FIELDS

St. Louis Syndicate Convinced Present Production Is Due to Seepage.

Proceeding on the theory of geologists that the shallow Dupo oil fields is a seepage pool from a larger parent pool, a St. Louis syndicate today started drilling a test well which it will drive to 2000 feet at a cost of about $20,000.

The well is about 2 1/4 miles north of Dupo, where numerous wells, with a production of upwards of 200 barrels a day, have been brought in at about 400 feet. If this oil-bearing fold is encountered in sinking the deep well, it will be ignored, William Sacks and C. H. Bayless, who head the project, said.

For the first time, with the erection of a 75-foot timber derrick, the skyline of the countryside suggests activity of oil men, the shallow wells requiring only small rigs which carry only a short boom. Samples will be taken by a representative of the Illinois Department of Geology at an 85-foot depth.

Another well within the Dupo city limits will be drilled to 1500 feet by Sacks, Thomas Wheelan and other associates. Sacks expects the deeper well to reach 2000 feet in four months.

FOUND DEAD, HEAD IN OVEN

Tailor Said to Have Been Out of Work More Than a Year. William Vilak, 63 years old, was found dead with his head in the oven of a gas stove at his home, 4742 Humeau avenue, at 11:15 o'clock last night. The body was found by Vilak's wife, Caroline, upon her return home. Vilak was a tailor but had been out of work for more than a year, according to his wife.

MAN WHO INTERCEDED FOR YOUTH STABBED

John Glass Attacked by Bartender Who Had Evicted Lad From Mother's Home.

John Glass, 51 years old, a laborer, 1011 Selby place, was stabbed in the chest and back last night when he tried to intercede on behalf of Edward Frew, 20, who had been ordered from his mother's home, 1512 Carr street, by Thomas Smith, 53, a bartender, living at that address.

Frew told police Smith ordered him away yesterday afternoon when he went to visit his mother, Mrs. Effie Frew, and his brothers. Frew told his friend, Glass, of the trouble and at 8 o'clock he and Glass chance to meet Smith at Sixteenth and Wash streets.

An argument between Smith and Frew followed and, when Glass joined in, Smith stabbed him, according to Frew. Smith is then alleged to have threatened Frew with a knife, inquiring, according to Frew, "do you want the same?" Frew knocked Smith down and was beating him when police arrived. Smith was treated at City Hospital for a broken nose and cuts of the face. He declined to make a statement. Glass' condition is serious.

Held for Questioning After Stabbed Man Is Taken to Hospital.

A man who said he was Harry Higgins, 1812 Seventh boulevard, was arrested for questioning yesterday after Arthur Brady, 1806A South 7th street, had been taken to City Hospital for treatment of a stab wound of the neck and a lacerated right shoulder.

Police said Higgins admitted cutting Brady with a butcher knife after he had entered the Higgins home and, in the presence of Mrs. Higgins and John Higgins, 1808

STEAM REMAINS HEAD OF DAM SYSTEM

ederal Power Commission Report Finds Act Has Failed of Its Objective.

The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Exhausting doubt that the objective of the Federal water power act of 1906 had been achieved, the Federal Power Commission said in its annual report that hydroelectric development because of regulation in cost of steam generation and because of the lack of "constructive public co-operation."

Passing over without mention the accounting difficulties which the commission had emphasized in its reports, it stressed that many of the water power problems should be determined "on sound engineering and social principles instead of through the stretching of many impossible laws and court decisions in this troubled field."

"The control of certain abuses," the report continued, "has led to necessary handicaps for legitimate enterprises. The existing situation has at times been unfair and regulation is still seeking for guidance of generally acceptable policies and principles."

Discussing public utility regulation, the commission indicated that it considered this a field almost exclusively for State activity. Assuming that regulation of power is a local problem, the commission said that "practically all of the states in which power plants are being operated under license are duly constituted agencies to control the service given and rates charged to consumers."

"As a matter of fact," it continued, "the generated capacity operating under license from the commission comprises such a small total in public utility service throughout the country that it would hardly be considered more than a minor factor under any circumstances."

The power under Federal license is set at 25 per cent of the total generating capacity of the country, while the latter was between 24 and 40 per cent of total electrical energy produced.

"Questionably it was the purpose of Congress in passing the Federal water power act in 1906 to encourage and stimulate the development and utilization of the country's latent water power resources," the report said.

"Many large projects have been postponed and brought into operation under the provisions of the act," it added, "but in view of the fact that water power has barely attained its share of the vast potential market in competition with other power there may be some question as to whether the objectives of the legislation have been achieved."

Of 1922 applications filed up to the close of the fiscal year only 12 were granted, the report stated. Last year's report, distributed last fall, behind the commission had fallen in its nine years of operation attributed this principle to lack of an adequate accounting staff.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Immense ceremonies have been ordered by the War Department for the arrival in New York of the bodies of 75 soldiers of the Three Hundred and Thirty-Ninth Infantry who died while in service in Russia after the World War.

The bodies were sent from Cherbourg on the steamship President Roosevelt Nov. 19 and are being escorted by Capt. Edwin S. Bettelheim, representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Walter Dunham, representing the Polar Bear Association and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The President Roosevelt will be met at New York Harbor, by a tugboat and by airplanes from the Roosevelt Field. A battalion of the Tenth Infantry from Fort Jay will meet the ship at the pier and a guard of honor during the arrival. The bodies of the men, most of whom, came from Michigan, will be sent to Detroit on a special train.

CANADIAN PRIEST IS MISSING
Superior General of St. Basil Order Disappears in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Nov. 25.—An intensive search was under way today for the Rev. Francis Forster, Superior General of the St. Basil Order, who disappeared Nov. 11, while walking from the Windsor Hotel to the steamship dock. He was last seen at the Windsor Hotel, where he was staying, and his disappearance has caused much concern.

Would Bar Driver Four Years.
GALESBURG, Ill., Nov. 25.—Recommendation that Ralph Peterson, 17 years old, whose auto mobile struck and killed Alfred Harvey, 53, at Onida, be forbidden to drive a car for four years, was made by a Coroner's jury here yesterday. Peterson confessed, police said, he was driving rapidly when his car struck Harvey, the verdict advised city authorities to enforce the law regarding speeding.

ROCK ISLAND LINES PLAN $50,000,000 OF IMPROVEMENTS

Increased Budget for 1930 Announced as Part of Hoover Program to Stimulate Business.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—As a part of President Hoover's program for maintaining business conditions on a normal basis, President J. E. Gorman today announced the proposed 1930 improvement budget of the Rock Island Lines will total $50,000,000, the largest budget of expenditures in the history of the road.

The outlay, President Gorman said, will exceed by slightly more than $10,000,000 the improvement budget of 1929, and will be for new equipment, general improvements, new lines and miscellaneous construction.

The expenditure includes a tentative budget of $5,500,000 for building a new line in Texas by the Chicago, Rock Island & Gulf Railroad, a part of the Rock Island Lines. The proposal is now before the Interstate Commerce Commission for decision.

To Buy 41 Locomotives. Approximately $25,000,000 will be spent for new equipment, consisting of 41 locomotives, 5000 freight cars, 24 passenger cars and 61 work cars, Gorman said.

Other expenditures include a $5,000,000 fund for miscellaneous improvements to be charged to operation and capital account.

Exclusive of the proposed new Texas line, the 1930 expenditures for new lines, second main tracks and roadway improvements will total about $15,000,000. This will cover continuation of the St. Paul & Kansas City short line from Trenton to Birmingham, Mo., and a new line from Dulhart to Morse, Tex., entailing the cost of about $2,000,000 for 60 miles of road.

The budget sets aside $1,500,000 for ballasting. Provision is also made for 57,000 tons of new steel rail and the installation of 126 miles of dispatcher's control and automatic block signal system between Herrington and Pratt, Kan.

The latter project, the announcement estimates, will be completed at an expenditure of $100,000.

The new Trenton-Birmingham line, Gorman added, contemplates a continuous program involving an ultimate expenditure of $11,000,000.

It is permission is granted for the new line in Texas, Gorman said, it will extend from Shamrock to Quanah to Beaver Creek, South Vernon, a distance of 110 miles.

$308 TAKEN IN FOUR EAST ST. LOUIS HOLDUPS

Filling Station Attendant Made to Open Safe Which Is Robbed of $240.

Holdup men obtained $308 in four East St. Louis robberies yesterday.

Martin Stallings, the attendant in a filling station at 900 St. Clair avenue, was held up by two armed men and made to open the safe, from which they took $240. Stallings, locked in the washroom just before the men left, released himself and notified police.

Lawrence Wachtell, 1165 North Fifteenth street, was robbed of his coupe, his overcoat and $1 in cash by three men as he was parking his machine at Fifth street and St. Louis avenue.

The same trio, according to descriptions, robbed Lyle Bagwell, 5204 St. Louis avenue, a bus driver for the East St. Louis & Suburban Railway Co., of $25. One man boarded the bus at Fortieth street and Waverly avenue and robbed Bagwell at the point of a pistol without molesting two passengers.

The other two men sat in the parked coupe nearby, Bagwell said.

J. C. Stewart and Lee Downey, both of 519 Veronica avenue, attendants at a service station at 900 Missouri avenue, reported that a man, armed with a pistol, held them up last midnight and took $40 from the cash register.

PHIL LOVE WINS PARKS FIELD RACE FOR MILITIA PLANES

Lindbergh's Former Flying Partner Makes 141 Miles an Hour in 25-Mile Event.

A crowd of more than 10,000 persons witnessed a program of racing by military and commercial pilots, stunt flying and parachute jumping at Parks Airport yesterday.

Lieut. Phil Love of the Thirty-first Division, was the former flying companion of Col. Lindbergh, won the 25-mile race for National Guard observation planes. Lieut. Chauncey Yeoman, also of the Thirty-fifth Division unit, was second. Love's speed was 141 miles an hour.

Arthur C. Chester of Joliet, Ill., won the race for commercial planes with OX-5 engines, and also took first place in the potato race, during which pilots were required to make three landings to pick up potatoes.

Forrest O'Brien, endurance record holder, was second in the OX-5 race. "Lucky Jack" Merrill made two parachute drops. Claude Sterling, Parks Air College pilot, piloted a special Lockheed-Vega monoplane at a speed of 195 miles an hour in an exhibition flight.

Planning Your Christmas List?

MRS. HORTON: Let's make out our Christmas list. Betty, Oh, dear, how I hate trying to get things that will please people, and you never do, anyway.

BETTY: Listen, Mother, you know what Grace said at the club yesterday?

MRS. HORTON: No, dear, what?

BETTY: She said she was going to make this a "Hosiery Christmas," and she said she was going to Libson's, and she said they have the most marvelous hosiery for $1.95 and she said they give you lovely gift boxes, too, and she said—

MRS. HORTON: Betty! For heaven's sake don't talk so fast! But that is a good idea.

BETTY: Yes, Grace said hosiery pleases everyone and you know it does, too.

MRS. HORTON: That's right. Now there's Aunt Helen, and Margy, and Grand-

BETTY: And Mother, they sell 3 pairs for $5.50 even if the sizes and colors are different!

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH UNION ADVOCATED

Moderator McAfee Discusses Also Prospect of Women as Elders or Pastors.

The Rev. Dr. Cleland B. McAfee of Chicago, moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America (the northern body), discussed problems confronting it at a meeting of pastors and laymen today at Kingshighway Presbyterian Church. He was accompanied on his visit by the Rev. Dr. John Timothy Stone, president of McCormick Theological Seminary of Chicago, who was moderator in 1913-14.

The position of women in the official life of the church, its benevolent programs and attitude toward public affairs, and the question of church union were described by Dr. McAfee as major issues facing the church. On these questions, he said, it was important that definite decisions be reached. He told of four other problems that had been discussed, although their settlement was not immediately expected. These he said, were the questions of divorce and remarriage, of location and transfer of ministers, of consolidating Presbyterian seminaries, and the clarifying of relations between elders and trustees.

"Sooner or later we are going to have to decide whether or not women may be elders and ministers in the Presbyterian Church," Dr. McAfee said. "There is no theological point involved, the only obstacle to women in attaining these offices is in the form of government of the church. Is there anything inherent in womanhood which bars them from the ministry?"

Favors Church Union. Dr. McAfee suggested that the four boards which now have charge of the benevolent program, including missions and education, should be consolidated for more effective service. The matter of church union, he pointed out, would be taken up at a conference in Pittsburgh, Pa., in January. "The nine kinds of Presbyterians should be made one kind before the world. There can be no possible reason for delay," he said.

The attitude of the church toward public affairs, Dr. McAfee said, could be determined by answering the question of whether Christ cares whether there is war or peace, industrial content or law observance. "We do have a measure of responsibility in that matter," he added.

In the matter of divorce and remarriage, Dr. McAfee said it was important to reach a new definition of what the church means by marriage, and from this would follow what grounds might exist for divorce and remarriage.

It had been determined, he said, that one-third of the Presbyterian clergymen were not college graduates and one-fourth not graduates of seminaries. It had been suggested, he added, that this situation was the cause of a "restless ministry," and that problems of locating and transferring ministers arose from it.

Question of Rank. There was considerable sentiment in favor of consolidating some of the 13 Presbyterian seminaries and co-ordinating their courses, Dr. McAfee added. He mentioned the need of clarifying the relations of elders and trustees, pointing out that elders were superior in rank, although trustees might not be inclined to believe it.

Following Dr. McAfee's talk there were conferences for pastors and laymen. Dr. McAfee presiding at that of the pastors and Dr. Stone at the laymen's meeting. Dr. Stone afterwards addressed the general meeting.

Dr. McAfee will speak tonight at a banquet for Presbyterians at the city Club at 6:30 o'clock.

PUBLIC MEETINGS AND ENTERTAINMENTS

George N. Shuster of New York, managing editor of The Commonweal, Catholic weekly magazine of opinion, will address the student body of Webster College tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. at the annual celebration in honor of Pelatiah Webster, "Father of the Constitution."

Hartz Mountain and Roller Canaries. Youngsters, fully feathered, too young to determine their sex or song. None guaranteed at this price, but all worth the price and more. Many people like these youngsters, to make pets and the chance of the song, as in all young birds.

FINCHES

We find large importations here and on the way. To acquire many people with these wonderful little birds, for their houses, we are going to place a few hundred at a dollar each, owing to the great drop in the cost of bringing them over. This is not a sale, it's just lowered costs to us and lowered costs to you. The opportunity may come again, it may never. If a larger duty goes on, then expect them to go back to $2.50 and higher a pair. A SURPRISE BIRD, AT A DOLLAR EACH, that has been selling as high as $7.50 each in many places. It's here. Ask us here.

DOG FURNISHINGS—Here you will actually find the largest assortment, selections, lowest prices. There is no doubt about that, no more than there is about cage birds or cages. They are here.

DOG SWEATERS—Our everyday prices, for the last few years, for pups and dogs up to Boston Terrier size, $1.00 each. Larger sizes somewhat higher, but always we cut the prices and MAKE YOUR DOLLARS HAVE MORE CENTS.

Included are tailored models for school . . . fancy styles for "dress-up" . . . and daintily trimmed effects for the parties of the season. Many samples included.

A black and white illustration by John H. Johnson. It depicts three men in a dark, wooded setting. In the foreground, a man wearing a hat and a light-colored shirt is crouching, holding a rifle. In the background, two other men are visible; one is bent over, and the other is standing, both appearing to be in a state of distress or exhaustion. The scene is rendered in a dark, textured style, possibly a woodcut or a heavily shaded drawing. The signature 'J. H. Johnson' is visible in the bottom right corner.

Throwing a Monkey Wrench

Forces evidently at work to upset Hoover's plan for civilian delegation at London naval parity; suggestion to include officers who "really know whereof they speak"; Washington conference, run by non-military men, was success; Geneva meeting, with Admirals present, was a failure and its mischief is now being repaired.

From the New York World.

THESE are evident forces at work underground which aim to upset the President's decision to send a civilian delegation to the London naval conference next January. Thus the Herald Tribune concludes a lengthy leader on the history of the naval negotiations since 1921 with these words:

The lesson to be learned from this bit of recent history is plain. The complaint that our naval authorities had been misled could have been stopped at once if they had been made to share the responsibility of the Washington treaties and had been properly represented on the American delegation. This does not mean that delegations to naval conferences should be dominated by naval officers. It merely means that in a delegation experience" had "guided" the Hoover administration.

This conclusion has been adhered to. Throughout the summer the British and American Governments have been negotiating a tentative agreement. Each Government has insisted its own naval officers; but both have been careful to avoid letting the naval officers do the negotiating. They have followed the sound and well established constitutional practice of keeping the military subordinate to the civil authority. The result has justified their decision. The differences which seemed insurmountable at Geneva in 1927 had been surmounted by Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Hoover in September, 1928, and, providing the French, the Japanese and the Japanese-American negotiators of a complete naval agreement between Britain and America have been laid.

fect it is only common sense to include a small minority of men who really know where they speak. With our own experience as guides, it would be indeed unwise to ignore them again.

Let us see whether "experience" does in fact guide us to this conclusion. The Washington naval conference was run by civilians. It resulted in an agreement on capital ships which has stood the test of time. The agreement is still in force and will undoubtedly be continued. We do not believe that the Herald Tribune would take the responsibility of suggesting that the agreement ought not to have been made.

What we should like to know is whether it is the Herald Tribune's view that the Hoover-Macdonald agreement is to be reopened in January by the British and American Admirals at the London conference? Or is it that the Herald Tribune has forgotten that the Admirals have been consulted and have given their approval to the existing agreement, that this fact was made known at the time in Washington and that on the British side Mr. Macdonald even went so far as to say publicly that, "It should be emphasized that in any proposals which are now under serious consideration the Lords of the Admiralty have expressed their approval."

The Geneva naval conference of 1927 was conducted by mixed delegations of civilian and naval officers, by just such delegations as the United States sent to the League of Nations. The United States had two delegates, one of them an Admiral. Great Britain had four delegates, two of them Admirals and a third the First Lord of the Admiralty, who ranks as a civilian. Both Canada and Australia had naval officers in their delegations. New Zealand was represented by a British Admiral. Japan had two delegates, one an Admiral.

Here, then was a conference in which at least half of the delegates, omitting all mention of the naval and military advisers attached to the delegations, were "men who really know whereof they speak." That conference, it is generally agreed, was a

It aroused serious animosities. So had been the results that as soon as the Baldwin Cabinet had been replaced in Britain and the Coolidge administration had replaced in the United States it became the first and greatest task of Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Hoover to repair the mischief resulting from the failure at Geneva.

Mr. MacDonald took office in June of this year and negotiations were immediately started through the new American Ambassador Mr. Dawes announced that in the new negotiations naval officers would have the same two votes as before but that civilians would conduct the negotiations and make the final decisions. He made it quite plain that this was the conclusion to which "er-

Since the principle of Anglo-American parity had already been worked out originally, the adjustment to be made in London is from the American point of view a political adjustment, and to that the Admirals have no contribution to make as negotiators. It is not their business. It is not within the sphere of their expert competence. They can contribute everything they have to contribute by means of confidential technical advisers to the American civilian delegates. They could add nothing to the peace of the world or the security of America by being placed in a position where they could engage in public statements. As the Admirals or, as the Americans would say, the Navy Department, at Geneva, where the conference was held, had no public policy to the serve.

A FEW days ago carpenters and painters reported for work in a little room on the second floor of the Smithsonian. They immediately started applying light yellow paint to faded walls and painting the floor. When the work was over, the hall came a young scientist just recently returned from the Southwest who hung crates of prehistoric Indian pottery.

His moving in was significant. It was the first time the laboratory of Samuel Langley, one of the fathers of aviation, had more than 10 years. Langley worked in the Little Laboratory at the Smithsonian in a situation at the task of learning to fly.

Langley, who was on the second floor, had perfected his aerodrome after so many heart-breaking failures.

It was from this room that he took to the sky with his model airplane. He was modeled with his friend, Alexander Graham Bell, for tests of his flying model on the secluded island of Choptank near Quantico, on the Virginia shore of Potomac some 20 miles below Washington.

MORE than 28 times he has taken a plane down to Choptawhatchee before being rewarded for his efforts. Langley is watching from the shore when the big blimp is launched. He is in the command compartment. Bell was by his side in the pocket of the blimp. The little plane, powered with a single steam engine, would revolve the propeller only 1000 times a minute, rose in the air and flew down the Potomac for about a half mile, the men witnessed it could hardly believe their eyes.

Bell's pocket camera caught the whole thrilling contraption in flight. An enlargement of his picture now hangs from the wall on the first floor of the Smithsonian.

That first flight was on May 6, 1899. The next day Langley went out to his laboratory at the Smithsonian with a larger model of his aerodrome. Off Choptawhatchee, on Nov. 28, he sent his model into the air. This time it flew three-quarters of a mile down the Potomac as the men on the shore watched. It was to his laboratory convinced that the day had arrived when man could fly.

There are still many around the dimension who remember the days when Langley worked so industriously in that room on the second floor.

Already renowned for his work in science of astrophysics, his work in the field was followed with great interest and confidence. No ridicule or scorn, as feared from other quarters at the time, came from those who knew him there. He felt that any criticism would be the result of his assertion that "Perhaps if it were forgotten at the outset how much there was to be, how much of life was given to it, I might have hesitated to enter upon it at all."

And they, too, remember the words he uttered at that time: "I was indeed, would be wiser if it did not seem that a new possibility had come to light, that the universe highway could be put upon its feet."

NOTHER one of those pictures of days—and nights—in a co-ed college where all of the time given over to theme songs, tap dancing and football, is down to Ambassador College this week. This is called "Sweetie," and even if things don't happen just that way any well regulated school it is a handy and entertaining little film. It has plenty of laughs and a smattering of good acting. The girls are good, and Helen Kane, the baby like girl who climbed into the car overnight with her "boop a doo" sax, is a real riot. This is Miss Greta's first picture. One more and she will be about as famous as films. Jack Oakie and Nancy Drew are the advertised stars of this one and Jack holds his own, but Nancy, even with the title role, is overshadowed by little Miss Kane. The story, well, you know it. It is the story of a girl who loves, she loves, the game snatched out of the fire and the clinch at the finish. Its all very much like college pictures which have one thing in common, but this time it's well done. That "sweetie" is a genuine treat.

Mama Mammy Again
THIS being the proper season for the four-als, has a football picture in "Forward Pass" which recounts the time Douglas Airbanks Jr., catching some of a father's athletic spirit, threw a 100 percent facer for a row in the last two minutes of the gridiron struggle between Sanford and Colfax. Naturally that kind of work would beat any team, and Colfax, who had won the battle, and Doug Jr. and Loretta Young for a reward. Loretta is the sort of girl who would win any football game. Responsible as a star, she did not make as entertaining a story out of this game and the theme songs and college quartets clutter up the action considerably. If you're a Sanford man—co-ed, you'll enjoy seeing Colfax beaten by

The Rev. D. B. Hahn, pastor of the Pendleton Street Baptist Church of Greenville, S. C., favors public whipping posts for "northern reformers who sink they are called upon to reform conditions in textile mill villages here." He thought the union organizers flogged during the strikes last summer got "what was coming to them," but he believes a better means of administering such punishment "could be the official application of the bastinado. His edifying exposition of Christian doctrine was made before the South Carolina College Press Association. It should insure for Mr. Hahn a "call" to one of the more fashionable pulpits, where some 70 years ago his brothers in the cloth passionately denounced the institution of slavery.

CLEMENCEAU.

On the occasion of his visit to St. Louis we said, on Dec. 1, 1922:

To be sure, he is called The Tiger, and when destiny demanded a fighter to the death he did incarnate the ferocity of determination and grim will to win which no reverse could discourage and no disaster weaken. And when his political career is lightly reviewed and we see the ministries he has smashed, the Premiers and Presidents he has installed and removed, the impression is that of a wrecker creating largely for the joy of destroying.

Nothing could be further from the truth. If we see in Clemenceau the duelist of Deroulade's description, whose sword and pistol and tongue had cowed all others into silence, we also see the youth who shouted "Vive la Republique!" in the streets of monarchical Paris and gayly went to a Napoleonic jail. Before that the royalist peasants of his beloved Vendee had attacked the young radical with pitchforks. It was a remarkable contrast.

elements for which the young doctor of medicine received his degree in 1865, but it was significant and prophetic that that thesis was dedicated to John Stuart Mill. Gambetta was the showy figure after the fall of the Second Empire, but no man contributed more to the erection of the Republic on the debris of the monarchy and squalor and horror of the commune than did Clemenceau. No one preached clemency to the communards so eloquently as did the young Mayor of Montmartre and the doctor who prescribed for the poor of Paris without fees. The speech in behalf of Blanqui, veteran anarchist and tireless direct-actionist, is typical of Clemenceau's philosophy.

It is from his philosophy as revealed in his writings, in his political activities, in the causes he has espoused, in the policies he has opposed—it is from this measure of the man that St. Louis welcomes as its guest the first citizen of France. After almost a century of strife the first citizen of France is at rest.

SURFACE CARS AND THE MODERN CITY.

Though the dramatic concept of the city of tomorrow, as expounded by Le Corbusier, the noted French architect, may be only a brilliant theoretical brain child, beyond the reach of the average, slow-moving social group, there is one point at which M. Le Corbusier contacts firmly with reality. Recently in the Post-Dispatch Magazine there was the following quotation from his latest book:

Traffic running on fixed rails is only justified if it is in the form of a convoy carrying an immense load; it then becomes a sort of extension of the underground system or of trains dealing with suburban traffic. The surface car has no right to exist in the heart of the modern city.

He states this as a truism. It must be taken for granted in planning for the city of tomorrow, or day after tomorrow.

FRONT-DRIVE RUXTONAcquires New Era Motors, Inc.,

Cars by Contract.

The Moon Motor Car Co. announced today the acquisition of New Era Motors, Inc., owner of the Ruxton, front-wheel drive automobile, and will take over the car's production from the Gardner Motor Co., which has been manufacturing it on a contractual basis. The deal was effected through an exchange of stock and additional financing, through treasury shares, has been underwritten.

C. W. Burrell, president of the Moon company, said quantity production of the Ruxton will begin immediately and that it will be distributed through Moon dealers.

"By quantity production at the St. Louis plant the price range will be lowered," Burrell said, "and light eight and sixes will be turned out."

Hitherto, the Ruxton has appeared only as an eight-cylinder car and has been priced to appeal to a comparatively limited trade. As has been told, the Gardner Motor Co. plans to produce a front-wheel drive car of its own. It will be presented at the automobile show in New York in January.

CLEMENCEAU TOLD
BY LLOYD GEORGE

as to the combatant who scored the immediate success.

Col. House tells the story of how Clemenceau, at a private interview with the President, persuaded him to agree to the terms which he had hitherto resisted with an appearance of stubborn resolution. These secret conferences occurred at the time when I had been forced to return to England to deal with a parliamentary revolt against the concession of moderate peace terms to Germany. When I got back to Paris I found to my astonishment that President Wilson had entered into a compact with Clemenceau which was almost a complete surrender on the part of the former. So complete was the change of attitude of President Wilson that in the end I found him fighting the whole British delegation to retain in the draft of the treaty conditions which he had regarded with horror when he first came to Paris with his ideals untarnished.

After this there was a marked change in the feelings of Clemenceau toward President Wilson. Before that he viewed the President with a great dislike and with much apprehension. After that President Wilson was to him a source of constant diversion. He listened to his idealistic outbursts with a quizzical smile, but only after the arrangements had sterilized them.

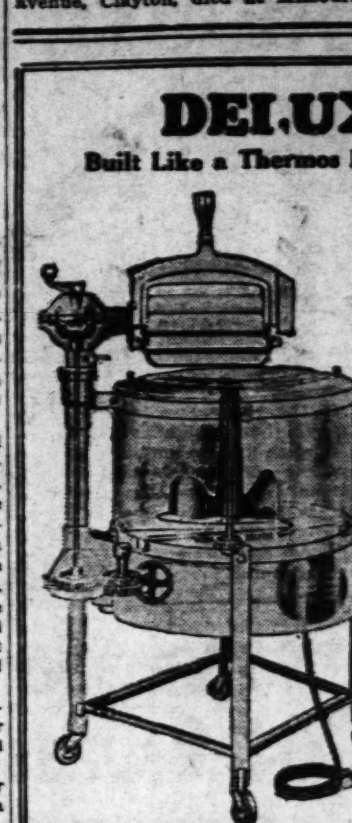

The last time I saw him as Prime Minister was after the defeat of his candidature for the presidency of the Republic. It was for him a defeat accompanied by every circumstance of humiliation, and he felt it deeply. It is the first and only occasion I have ever seen this brave old man betray any feeling of personal hurt to himself. He only gave in because assured by many who afterwards betrayed him that it was in the interests of France that he should remain at the helm until the peace was firmly established and France had recovered from her wounds. It was represented to him that the unique and commanding influence he had won, not only in France but throughout the world, was indispensable for some years to come. He listened to their urgings and very reluctantly complied. He allowed his name to go forward.

Rebuffed Before World.

Personal intrigue engineered a rebuff for him in the face of the whole world. A man whom he despised was chosen in his place. When I left Paris the following morning, he came to see me off. He did not attempt to conceal his chagrin that Frenchmen should so soon forget his services. When I said to him, "the public soon forget," he said "they will not do it quite like this in England."

Appropos of his defeat by Deschanel in the contest for the Presidency, there is a very good story told of a duel he fought before the war with his successful rival. It is related that the fight took place in a garden somewhere in the suburbs of Paris. They fought with swords. Clemenceau was a very formidable swordsman and as he pressed his opponent, the latter retreated further and further from the threatening weapon. At last Clemenceau got tired of his continuous retreat and putting his sword under his arm, waving his hand, and with a bow towards Deschangel, he said, "Monsieur is leaving us."

He was the greatest French statesman, if not the greatest Frenchman, of his day. He was in every fiber of his being a Frenchman. He had no real interest in humanity as a whole. His whole concern was for France. As long as France was humbled, he cared not what other peoples were exalted. As long as France was victorious, he did not worry in the least about the tribulations of any other country. To him France was all in all. When he began in public life, he found his beloved country humiliated to the dust. When he ended his career, he left France the most powerful state on the Continent of Europe—largely through his exertions.

For COLDS

We all catch colds and they can make us miserable; but yours needn't last long if you will do this: Take two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin just as soon as possible after a cold starts. Stay in the house if you can—keep warm. Repeat with another tablet or two of Bayer Aspirin every three or four hours, if those symptoms of cold persist. Take a good laxative when you retire. If there is sore, dissolve three tablets in a quarter-glass of water and gargle. This soothes inflammation and reduces infection. There is nothing like Bayer Aspirin for a cold, or sore throat. And it relieves aches and pains almost instantly. The genuine tablets, marked Bayer, are absolutely harmless to the heart.

LUXURY

IT IS TRULY YEARS AHEAD! THE NEW SUPER-AUTOMATIC KELVINATOR

On display
today

TODAY, with the announcement of the new Super-Automatic Kelvinator, electric refrigeration enters a new and wider sphere of usefulness for thousands of home-makers the world over.

If you, for one, have sought an electric refrigerator that completely divorces from your mind all worry as to the proper care of food, you will find your highest expectations realized in this new Kelvinator.

Nothing to Regulate—
100% Automatic

Kelvinator, never deviating from its path of making electric refrigeration even more trouble-free, more convenient and more economical, has designed its newest product to be 100% automatic in operation.

There is nothing to regulate—whether you want speedy freezing of ice cubes and desserts or delicate foods kept at their palatable best for hours and days at a time.

Ice-O-Thermic Tubes
—A Startling Advance
In Electric Refrigeration

A new Kelvinator discovery—Ice-O-Thermic Tubes—makes possible far faster freezing of ice cubes. For example, the mere placing of a tray of water in a special ice compartment concentrates intense freezing power in this direction. Ice is ready in a remarkably short time. Desserts in a correspondingly brief period. Yet food compartments remain always at the same safe temperature—between 40 and 50 degrees—neither too warm nor too cold.

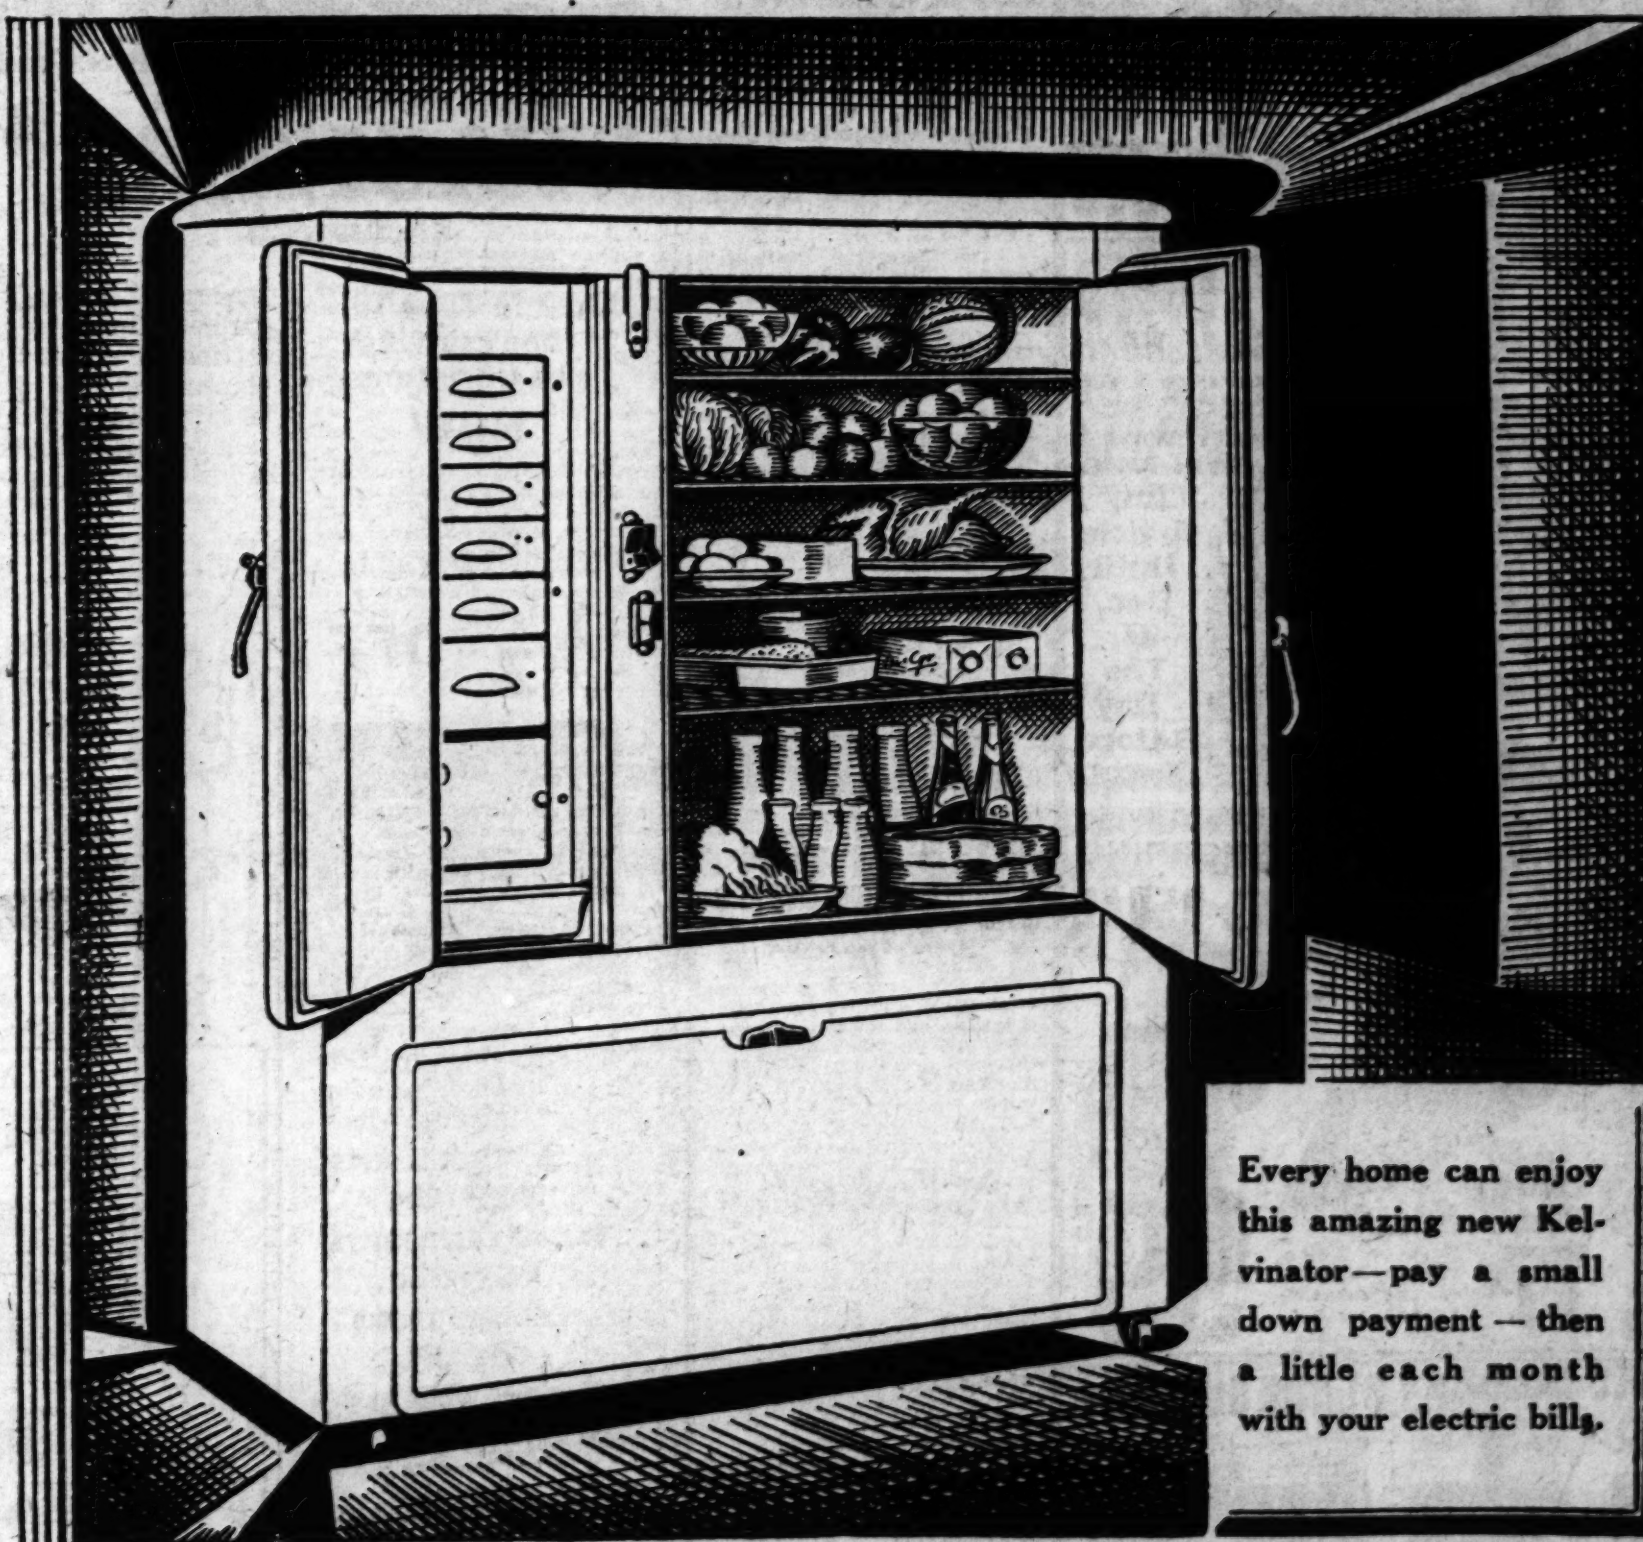

Not content with bringing you the finest automatic care of food and far faster freezing of ice cubes, Kelvinator surrounds this more efficient service with fresh beauty and sterling quality in cabinet construction.

New Metal Cabinets—Will
Last a Life-time

Each new Kelvinator is of rugged metal construction, porcelain-lined throughout to permit easy cleaning. Massive chromium-plated hardware in dull finish adds both to the attractive appearance and durability of these models. Larger models are equipped with separate cold storage chambers and interiors are electrically lighted.

The basic principles of Kelvinator operation remain the same as they have been for 15 years. . . . Time has proved those principles—the storage tank cold keeper, Thermostatic control and others—to be sound and efficient beyond question. Now, to these basic principles have been added improvements which place Kelvinator years ahead in the field of modern refrigerators—far faster freezing, greater ice capacity, and entirely automatic operation.

Provides Far Faster Freezing, Yet Maintains Correct Temperatures for Preservation of Food . . . It is Entirely Automatic—Nothing to Regulate. Ice Capacities Up to 34 Pounds. See It! Compare It!

Every home can enjoy this amazing new Kelvinator—pay a small down payment—then a little each month with your electric bills.

Features Which Place Kelvinator Years Ahead in Modern Refrigeration —

- 1 Ice-O-Thermic Tubes—giving new fast freezing of ice cubes and desserts. Fully automatic—no regulation needed.
- 2 Balanced Refrigeration—separate temperatures for food preservation, cold storage and ice freezing.
- 3 The Cold-Keeper—Holds cold over longer periods—thus reducing operating periods of mechanical unit.
- 4 Greater Economy—Less current consumed, because of infrequent starting and stopping, accomplished by Cold Keeper, or Storage Tank, an outstanding Kelvinator feature.
- 5 Abundant Ice Supply—Capacities up to 34 pounds of ice at a single freezing. New flexible rubber ice tray.
- 6 New Metal Cabinets, Porcelain Lined—Will last a lifetime without deterioration. Larger models electrically lighted.
- 7 Generously Powered—Each Super-Automatic Kelvinator shows: 100% over-load capacity under test in room with 100 degree temperature.

YOUTH SLAIN, GIRL ATTACKED ON WAY TO THEIR WEDDING

Crime of Eight Months Ago Near Mountain View, Ark., Disclosed With Arrest of Five.

By the Associated Press. MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark., Nov. 25.—Accused of torturing and burning alive a youth and attacking his 16-year-old fiancée when they were on their way to be married, five men were held in various jails today. The crimes, authorities said, were committed eight months ago.

Charges arising from the killing of Connie Franklin, 20 years old, a farm hand, in the St. James community, 14 miles east of here last March 10, came to light yesterday with the arrest of the men, who previously had been indicted. Those taken into custody were: Herman Greenway, 28; Alex Fulk, 26; Dill C. Younger, 24; Hubert Hester, 23; and Joe White, 20. Greenway, who is married, and Hester are charged with attacking the girl.

Prosecuting Attorney Hugh Williamson said threats against the girl and a deaf boy who was said to have witnessed the slaying, to prevent them from testifying, caused the grand jury difficulty in its investigation. The girl told Williamson she and Franklin were on their way to a Justice of the Peace when they were seized by five men, who beat and tortured Franklin until he fainted. The men, evidently thinking the youth dead, built a fire of logs, she said, and placed the body on it. Failing to destroy the body, they put the remains in a sack and started toward the nearby White River, according to the girl. Williamson said some of the men, who had been drinking, had tried to "kid" Franklin into marrying the girl for several days before the slaying; the men were to hold a mock marriage with a fake license and later "have some fun."

Franklin, however, obtained a valid license and was on his way with the girl over a lonely mountain road when accosted.

THE REV. J. S. STEPHENSON RETIRED PASTOR, DIES AT 84 Succumbs to Infirmities of Age at Home of Son in East St. Louis.

The Rev. James S. Stephenson, 84 years old, a retired Presbyterian clergyman and for several years a substitute pastor in various central Illinois churches, died last night at the home of a son, Floyd S. Stephenson, 551 Veronica avenue, East St. Louis, of the infirmities of age. He retired from regular ministerial duty in 1920 after serving as the pastor of a church at Ida, Kan. For a time he was a director of the Y. M. C. A. at Decatur, Ill.

Besides the son with whom he resided for the last three years, the Rev. Mr. Stephenson is survived by his widow; another son, Roy, Decatur, Ill.; a daughter, Mrs. William E. Lawrence, Corvallis, Ore.; and a sister, Mrs. Sarah A. Gules, Kimmunity, Ill. The funeral will be held at 4 p. m. tomorrow at the East St. Louis residence. Interment will be at Decatur, Ill.

"Policemen" in $2000 Holdup. By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Gaining admittance to the apartment of Fergus H. Wallin by posing as policemen, two robbers early yesterday stood guard over Mrs. Wallin, her child and two guests while two others forced Wallin to take them to his office and open a safe containing $2000. They then drove Wallin home and all escaped.

Catholic Archbishop of Boston Seeks Investigation of Reports of Miraculous Cures. MALDEN, Mass., Nov. 25.—Holy Cross Cemetery was closed today to all except funerals by order of Cardinal O'Connell, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston. The third throng of 100,000 during the last three weeks yesterday visited the grave of the Rev. Patrick J. Power seeking miraculous cures. A week ago 200,000 visited the grave. The Cardinal closed the cemetery in order to have reports of cures investigated. Lines of persons waited hours in a biting wind to pass by the grave. A gypsy band from Cleveland, O., a Chinese family from Chelsea, 11 busses from Springfield, bringing 250 persons, among them 70 cripples, and a 15-year old Captain of the United States Navy in full uniform were among the throng.

HENDERSON NOW BACKS ST. LOUIS IN AIRMAIL PLEA

Former Assistant Postmaster-General Opposed Direct Route to New York at Previous Hearing.

THREE OTHER PLANS BEING CONSIDERED

Post Office Department Seeks to Determine Best Course for New Trans-Continental Line.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 201-205 Kellogg Building, WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Establishment of a direct air mail route through St. Louis from New York to the Pacific Coast was considerably advanced today, when Col. Paul Henderson, executive vice president of the National Air Transport Co., and William Gibbs McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, already has put before the Postoffice Department bids for carrying the air mail between New York and Los Angeles by way of St. Louis and Dallas, and from Atlanta to the Pacific Coast by way of the larger Southern cities.

Henderson was an Assistant Postmaster-General, and his views, formerly opposed to a direct St. Louis-New York route, have had weight with the Interdepartmental Airways Committee, which decides on air mail routes.

McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, already has put before the Postoffice Department bids for carrying the air mail between New York and Los Angeles by way of St. Louis and Dallas, and from Atlanta to the Pacific Coast by way of the larger Southern cities.

The Interdepartmental Committee today began hearings on the establishment of another transcontinental air mail route when Postmaster General Walter Brown opened the session by announcing that his department had under consideration four routes and desired comment on them.

Four Tentative Routes.
The tentative routes, as outlined by Brown, were as follows:
1. From New York to Kansas City and Fort Worth to Los Angeles.
2. From New York through Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Tulsa, Dallas and the southwest.
3. From Atlanta through Birmingham, Jackson and Dallas.
4. From Atlanta through Mobile, New Orleans, Houston and San Antonio to the Pacific coast.

An Atlanta-New York service is now in operation.

Senators, Representatives and members of Chambers of Commerce and other civic organizations crowded the conference room to present the claims of their sections. The Senators and Representatives, who through courtesy were allowed to speak first, consumed the entire morning session by telling the committee that if the Postoffice and Commerce Departments would recommend the establishment of a new transcontinental route, they, as Congressmen, would see that adequate appropriations were made available.

Henderson Changes Position.
The statements of Henderson and McAdoo were obtained privately. They stated, however, that they expected to make the announcement when they appeared before the committee. At the last session of the Interdepartmental Committee, Henderson opposed the establishment of St. Louis-New York route and advised the committee to go slow on spending more money for additional mail service. At that time Henderson filed with the committee a letter from Lester D. Seymour, general manager of the National Air Transport, which declared that the Southwest was now adequately served by air mail and suggested that if a St. Louis-New York service was approved, it should connect with the present New York-Chicago line at Cleveland.

Henderson said today his company was now carrying passengers across the continent by way of St. Louis and it was only logical that mail be carried by the same planes.

Postmaster General Brown, upon opening the hearing, admitted that the southwestern territory of the country was not adequately served by air mail. He stated that the Postoffice Department was open-minded as to routes and he urged the representatives from the various cities and congressional districts not to be resentful if their communities were not put on direct routes. He insisted that "feeder" routes would give these sections substantially the same service.

Cochran Wants Action.
Representatives Cochran and Dyer of St. Louis obtained recognition immediately after the Postmaster-General finished his remarks. Cochran pointed out that this was the fourth meeting he had attended for establishment of a direct air mail route through St. Louis.

"I want merely to say," asserted Cochran, "that the Post Office Department should make up its mind about a route. I sincerely hope that the Postmaster-General will ask for an adequate appropriation immediately so that it may be included in the first deficiency appropriations bill. I am sure that St. Louis will get the treatment to which it is entitled. Let's establish a route, and let the hell, if any, come afterward."

Dyer declared that the present indirect air mail service to New York was of no great benefit to the banking interests of St. Louis and he urged the establishment of a route to Dallas as the necessary step to give the Southwest the benefits of direct service into St. Louis and New York.

Others who spoke for the St. Louis route were Senators Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, Tom Connally of Texas, Bratton of New Mexico, and Representatives Palmer of Missouri, Jones, Williams and Sumners of Texas, McKewen and McClintic of Oklahoma and Stimms of New Mexico.

Senator Tom Herlin and a number of Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Representatives spoke in behalf of the Atlanta-New Orleans route.

Commerce Chamber Argument.
An 87-page brief submitted by the research department of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce graded the route through St. Louis at 99 per cent and the other routes at 70 and 71 per cent on considerations of present mail use and prospective air mail use, manufacturing output, banking resources, population served and total income.

It estimated that the St. Louis route would provide overnight service for 4% as many persons as the Shreveport route, 2% times as many as the New Orleans route, and 1% times as many as both combined. It computed respective daily air mail potentials for overnight service as 1254 pounds for Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Tulsa and Oklahoma City, as compared with 254 pounds for Atlanta and Birmingham and 501 for Atlanta, Birmingham and New Orleans.

"The most serious obstacles to the alternate routes being successful in obtaining adequate mail poundage," it summarized, "is that they are laid out against the natural flow of business."

TWO MEN SHOT, FORMER SALOON OWNER ACCUSED

John Bongard Arrested After Family Quarrel at 736A South Broadway on Woman's Charge.

John Bongard, former proprietor of a notorious saloon, where a policeman was killed in 1925, is under arrest, accused of shooting two men in a quarrel at a house, at 736A South Broadway yesterday afternoon.

In serious condition at City Hospital, shot in the abdomen, are William P. Hennessy, 37 years old, of that address, and his friend, Crato Gentry, 46, 630 South Broadway. They are laborers.

Bongard's wife, Katherine, told police she shot Hennessy because of remarks he made about her. "The trouble started" a week ago last Saturday when the Bongards spread a report that Bill Hennessy had said the old woman (Mrs. May Crowe) was "no good" and that "Charley got what was coming to him," police were informed by Mrs. Ada Crowe.

JOEY KAUFMAN
MEETS KING TUT
HERE, DEC. 3

Joey Kaufman of New York will meet King Tut of Minneapolis in the 10-round semifinal bout at the Arena. Eight cards of the fight, the outcome of which will be the fight between Eddie Shea of Chicago and Bushy Graham of Utica, N. Y. Matchmaker Tom Packs announced the semifinal event last night.

Lou Terry, local junior lightweight, will oppose Jimmy Hackley of Indianapolis in a third 10-round bout, it was announced today.

The bout will afford Terry a chance to get revenge for the beating he received at the hands of the Indiana boxer in their 10-round bout at the New Coliseum last winter.

In his last local encounter, Terry defeated Tony Pellegrino of New York, whom he is slated to engage in a return match at Indianapolis tonight.

The St. Louis boxer has been seeking the return engagement with Hackley for several months, confident that he will succeed in stopping the Indian ringster when they meet again.

ARMY TO GIVE NOTRE DAME ANOTHER TEST IN BIG GAME OF WEEK

ROCKNE'S TEAM, UNDEFEATED AND UNTIED, WILL BE FAVORED TO WIN

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The college gridiron campaign faces its double-barreled climax this week, on Thanksgiving day and Saturday, with every prospect of a sensational finish to the championship races still undecided.

The fate of six of the seven major title contenders is involved. Purdue champion of the Big Ten, has double-barreled its place in the group by finishing the season with a clean and impressive slate of eight victories, but Pittsburg in the East, Notre Dame in the Midwest, Tennessee and Tulane in the South, Texas Christian in the Southwest, and St. Mary's of the Pacific Coast, all stake their title aspirations in important battles this week.

None of these teams has tasted defeat or tie, except St. Mary's, which was held to a scoreless deadlock by California but nevertheless remains as the outstanding team on the Pacific Coast so far as the records are concerned, since Stanford's 21-0 defeat of California scrambled the big conference race in the Far West.

Pitt Plays Penn State. On Thanksgiving day, Pittsburg will seek to clinch its claim to the Eastern championship as well as the bid for national honors by conquering Penn State. In the South, Tennessee will tackle Kentucky at Lexington and Tulane will oppose Louisiana State to determine perhaps the final southern conference rating. Nebraska, by defeating Iowa State in another holiday tilt, can clinch the Big Six crown once more.

Notre Dame, on Saturday, will battle the Army at the Yankee Stadium in the most colorful fray of the week, as Eastern climax games that overshadow even such attractive contests as the Cornell-Penn and Navy-Dartmouth collisions, both at Franklin Field, Philadelphia.

Triumphant in eight successive games as the Hoosier machine has swept brilliantly toward the national peak, Notre Dame will run into a determined Army eleven, featuring the big seasons charge of the All-America halfback, Red Cagle. Approximately 80,000 spectators are expected to see Captain Cagle match his individual passing and running powers against the great Notre Dame cast.

The Hoosiers will be handicapped by the absence of their ailing coach, Knute Rockne, as well as by the loss of Tim Moynihan, dynamo center, who suffered a broken leg in the 26-6 victory Saturday over Northwestern, but the Hoosiers so far have had the stuff to rise to every emergency. Army has yet to win a major game but if the cadets can upset Notre Dame, it will be sufficient balm for all the bad breaks they have had this year.

In the Southwest, the southwestern expected a sensational fight for its conference honors when the Texas Christian Horned Frogs tangled with the Southern Methodist Mustangs Saturday. The Frogs beat the Baylor Bears Saturday by a margin of 24-0, which was more decisive than that registered the week before by St. M. U., but there is not much to choose between this week's main rivals.

On the coast, St. Mary's must beat Oregon to keep at the top of the heap. Southern California, by defeating Washington State, can claim at least a percentage edge in the Pacific Coast Conference race. Victory would give the Trojans six triumphs out of seven conference games. Stanford has finished with five out of six and California with four out of five.

For the second straight year, Harvard has closed an in-and-out season by downing its ancient rival, Yale. The Elis were favorites on the strength of previous conquests over Brown, the Army, Dartmouth and Princeton, but when it came to the final showdown, the Crimson forwards outplayed their Blue rivals and Barry Wood gained the verdict over Able Hootch in the battle of sophomore backfield stars, 10 to 6.

Purdue Wins Title. The Big Ten season has closed with Purdue the titleholder for the first time in Western Conference history. Illinois, put out of the race by Northwestern after winning the championship two years in succession, gained the runner-up position by overwhelming Ohio State, 27 to 0. Michigan stood for a poor start by beating Minnesota and tying Iowa, besides conquering Harvard. Chicago fared poorly in the Big Ten, but added the intercollegiate scalp of Washington Saturday to that of Princeton.

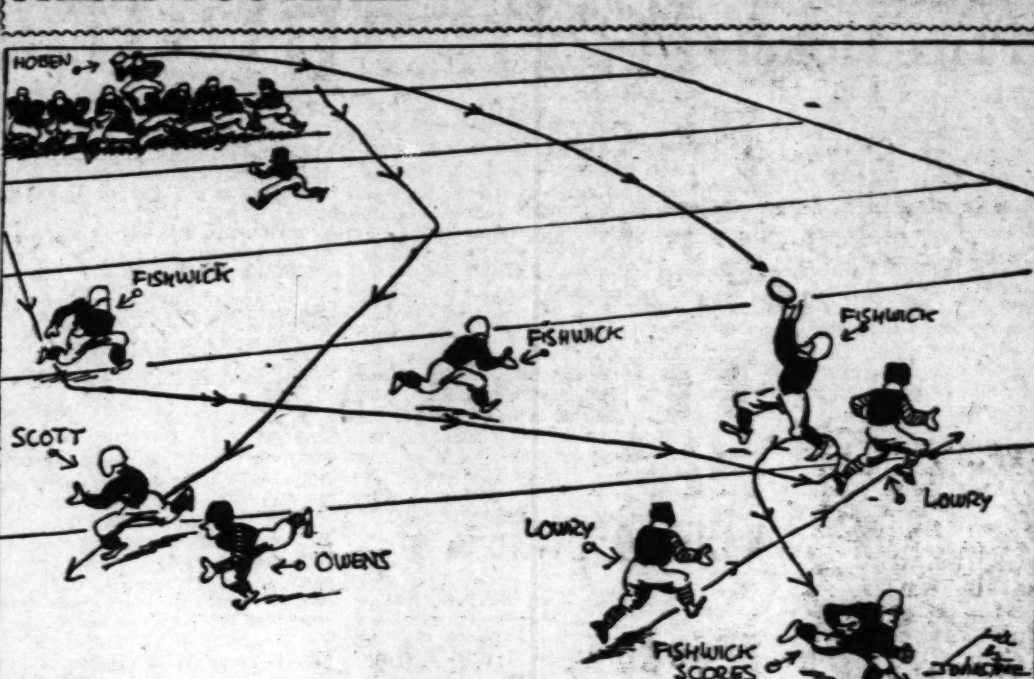

Detroit unexpectedly was knocked from its high perch by Oregon State's 14 to 7 victory. It was the first defeat in over two years for the Titans.

Warner on Way East. By the Associated Press.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Nov. 25.—Glen "Pop" Warner, Stanford football coach, was en route today to New York City to get first-hand information on the Army team in its game there with Notre Dame, next Saturday. Stanford and Army will meet here Dec. 28 in a post-season encounter.

FREAK FOOTBALL PLAYS

By Will B. Johnstone

YALE-PRINCETON football games have continued for over half a century. In all the meetings of these ancient rivals there never was a contest to equal the one of 1927 at New Haven. That was the year that Charlie Caldwell, the spectacular Yale back, was barred from the game at the last minute. Without Caldwell, Yale seemed to be the under bulldog.

Such was a fact as the game turned out, but a freak play came to the rescue of the Elis at the close of the last period.

The Tigers were leading then by the score of 6-0. Yale was held for three downs near the middle of the field and Hoben dropped back, apparently to kick on the last down. Then came the freak play. As the ball was snapped, Hoben retreated with the pikeball poised for a pass. The Yale end, Fishwick, and Scott, tore down the field to receive the pass, a gesture of sheer bravado. As Fishwick cut over to the left, Hoben let the ball fly in desperation as the Princeton safety men did their stuff. "Red" Owens shadowed Scott and Lowry dogged Fishwick.

From the press stand it appeared then that Fishwick pulled a piece of nifty headwork. It seemed that he outwitted Lowry at the close of the play. As he cut over, he glanced back at the flight of Hoben's pass, gauged it accurately and deliberately overran the ball. To all appearances Lowry was deceived by this maneuver and followed Fishwick instead of playing the ball. Then Fishwick, having jockeyed Lowry out of position, turned on his heel, appeared Hoben's pass and raced to the yard line, a gesture of sheer bravado. As Fishwick cut over to the left, Hoben let the ball fly in desperation as the Princeton safety men did their stuff. "Red" Owens shadowed Scott and Lowry dogged Fishwick.

GREEN BAY PACKERS ASSUME FIRST PLACE IN PRO GRID RACE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Matchless Benny Friedman's vaunted air-attack with an overhead game equally as brilliant, the Green Bay Packers yesterday assumed undisputed leadership of the National Professional Football League as they defeated the New York Giants, 20 to 6.

The defeat was the first of the season for the powerful Packers, while the victory left the Giants' record unmarred by either defeat or a tie.

Twenty-five thousand fans saw the Packers from Wisconsin all but obliterate the former Michigan star time and time again before he could get the ball out of his hands.

ROAST GOOSE IS NICE
FOR A HOLIDAY MEALThis Meat Has a Rich Flavor
Which Many Persons Prefer to That of Turkey.Select a young goose not over 6 or 7 months old. Singe, dress, wash and wipe dry. Tie securely in shape, with wings and legs close to the body. Rub the cut surface of an onion over the skin. Spread with fat and sprinkle inside andout with salt, pepper and powdered sage. Reserve the neck, gizzard and liver and simmer in just enough water to cover, to make the gravy.
The goose need not be stuffed unless a stuffing of mashed potatoes is used. Put in a quick oven for 15 minutes. Add one cup of water. Reduce heat and cook until done, allowing 20 minutes to the pound. Baste often, adding more hot water if necessary. Serve garnished with roasted apples or apple rings. To make the gravy follow recipe for Giblet Gravy.Four out of the fat from the pan in which the poultry has been roasted, saving four tablespoons.
Add three tablespoons flour and stir until it browns. Measure water in which the giblets were cooked and add enough water to make three cups. Add to the browned flour and stir until smooth and thickened. Add liver, gizzard and heart, chopped fine. Season with salt and pepper. Reheat and serve hot.MAKE A REAL PARTY OF HOLIDAY SUPPERSimple Meal Makes the Best Appeal and Satisfies the Palate.A simple holiday supper is very often a good type of informal entertaining for the daughter of high school age who wishes to gather together some of her friends for bridge or dancing.After the hearty feast of the two or four o'clock dinner, a simple meal is best appreciated. It must, however, be attractively served and have some points of originality to give it a "party air."In the menus for this week turkey club sandwiches are suggested for the Thanksgiving supper. These may be used even if the meal is a company one and punch or hot or cold chocolate added to the menu with a fruit ice and small cakes for dessert.Club sandwiches are always popular and are a specially good form of food for this type of entertaining. Allow two slices of bread for each sandwich, with slices of cold turkey, crisp bacon, lettuce and sliced tomatoes for filling.The toast should be lightly buttered and one slice placed on each plate. It is best if the plates are warmed a little. On the toast place first a lettuce leaf, spread lightly with mayonnaise. Then two slices of turkey, next two slices of tomato, then the bacon, another lettuce leaf, more mayonnaise and the second slice of toast.
Stick two toothpicks down through each sandwich to hold it together and cut diagonally into four pieces.For the fruit punch, mix together two cups of pineapple juice, one cup of grape juice, one cup of orange juice, the juice of two lemons. Dissolve one-half cup of sugar in one cup of boiling water, cool and add to the fruit juice, with enough water to make two and one-half quarts in all. Ging-erale may be used instead of water if desired. Serve well iced with a garnish of thin slices of orange or strips of orange peel.Small cakes are best to serve and these may be either fancy wafers bought from the baker or small homemade cakes iced with varied colored icing. A water ice or a gelatin charlotte makes the most fitting dessert.If a more elaborate menu is desired oyster patties are delicious and easily prepared.A salad made from cold turkey and diced celery in equal parts, with mayonnaise to moisten and a garnish of slices of cucumber and ripe olives may be served as a cold dish with hot biscuits or small finger rolls, hot coffee and any frozen dessert.The salad meal may be preceded by a clear hot soup or a cream of mushroom soup.For the plain family supper, where there are small children, it is best to give them perhaps a lettuce sandwich, some stewed fruit and a cup of hot cocoa.The same meal is planned for the grownups with a heartier sandwich filling, using tomatoes and bacon or cold turkey or a sardine paste with lettuce.Have you tried

SOUTHERN CORN FRITTERS

Particularly Tasty When Served With Fried Chicken.

Mix together one and one-half cups of canned corn, one teaspoon of salt, one well beaten egg and two tablespoons of milk. Sift one cup of flour with one teaspoon of baking powder and stir into the corn to make a thick batter.

Drop from a tablespoon into a heavy frying pan containing about one-half inch of hot fat. Cook until brown on one side, then turn and brown on the other. Drain on soft paper and serve hot with maple syrup and strips of crisp bacon.

Open-Faced Sandwich.

Open sandwiches that are attractive and different can be made by piping a wall of cream cheese softened with mayonnaise or cream, around the edge of fancy cut buttered bread slices and filling the center with jelly, jam or minced filling.

ABOUT FRUIT SOUFFLES

These Delicacies Are Fine to Serve Children.

Any of the canned or stewed fruits such as apricots, peaches, apples, cranberries, etc., may be used in making fruit souffles.

These are one of the best types of nourishing desserts for children and for those with delicate digestions.

Fruit pulp, eggwhite and sugar with occasionally a small amount of gelatin are the ingredients used in making these fruit souffles or whips which are so easily digested and contain so many valuable nutritive elements.

SIMPLE ROLLED SANDWICH

Requires Small Expenditure of Either Time or Money.

Spread a damp towel on a bread board. Remove all crust from the loaf and cut well buttered thin slices, one at a time, lengthwise of the loaf. Spread with Russian dressing.

Roll the bread up tightly, as for a jelly roll, taking care to keep the roll tight, especially at the start. Butter the ends of the roll to prevent its coming unrolled or drying out.

Wrap tightly in a damp cloth and set in the refrigerator until ready to use. Just before serving cut in thin slices.

PLANNING THE MENUS FOR THANKSGIVING

Getting Ready for Thanksgiving Festivities Includes Thought and Work.

The marketing for this week centers around the necessities for Thanksgiving day. Other meats, of course, have to be prepared, but the main interest of the household turns towards this day.

The Thanksgiving menu that is planned for this week is largely made up of the old-fashioned dishes, somewhat modified to meet the present day dietetic standards and housekeeping methods.

Four courses are about as many as the average householder prepares and they furnish the nutritive requirements in a full and satisfactory manner.

Thanksgiving Menu.

Breakfast—Grapefruit
Sausage with fried apple
Hot biscuits
Honey
Coffee
Milk

Dinner—(Thanksgiving Dinner)
Fruit cup or oyster soup
Roast turkey with giblet gravy
Cranberry sauce
Celery
Green and ripe olives
Mashed potatoes
String beans
Stuffed pimiento salad
Pumpkin pie
Stuffed dates and salted nuts
Tea
Coffee
Milk

Supper—Turkey club sandwiches
Mixed sweet pickles
Tea
Small cakes
Ice cream
Milk

In the menu planned choose between fruit cup or oyster soup as the first course.

Fruit cup has the first preference as it can be prepared the day before, needs no last minute watching, and is a good appetizer for the rest of the meal. Alligator pears and sliced oranges thoroughly chilled, sprinkled with lemon juice and served with a garnish of mint makes the fruit cup planned in the menu.

If soup is preferred, then oyster blisque is a good old-fashioned standby.

Turkey, the market people say, will be plentiful and comparatively inexpensive in price. Most housewives prefer to make the main part of the dinner, though in small families, a roast of capon, chicken, duck or guinea hen may be more economically used.

For the average Thanksgiving dinner about a 10-pound turkey is the best buy. Select one that is freshly killed, that is plump and young. Have it drawn and see that the liver, heart and gizzard are sent to you, as they are used in making the giblet gravy.

The turkey may be singed and stuffed the day before cooking, providing it is kept in the ice box. Wash the turkey inside and out with cold water. Wipe dry and then stuff. Usually a well seasoned bread crumb stuffing is preferred. Occasionally oysters, boiled chestnuts or sausage meat is added for additional flavoring or family tradition.

For the bread crumb dressing for a 10-pound turkey, crumb two large loaves of bread that are several days old. Mix with one tablespoon of salt, one-half teaspoon of pepper, one tablespoon of poultry seasoning, one-half cup of melted butter, one small onion chopped fine, one well beaten egg and enough hot water to moisten. If chestnuts are liked add one cup of Italian or French chestnuts, peeled, chopped fine. The butter may be omitted and one-half pound of sausage meat worked into the dressing.

Stuff the turkey and tie firmly. When cooking allow about three hours for roasting a 10-pound turkey. Rub the outside with butter and flour mixed together—three tablespoons of flour to one tablespoon of butter.

Baste the turkey every half hour during cooking with the fat that is in the pan. Roast in a hot oven for the first half hour and then reduce the heat to finish cooking.

Cold Cabbage Slaw.
Chop fine the cabbage for cold slaw, put in a bowl, then in a pan of cold water. To make the dressing, mix two tablespoons of melted butter and two of flour; add ¼ cupful of milk. Heat stirring to a boil; then take from fire and add two egg yolks, one teaspoonful salt, a dash of pepper, and reheat just a moment. Take from fire, add three tablespoons of vinegar and cool.

Roast Pork and Yams.
Wipe the five-pound roast with a damp cloth, put in baking pan, add one teaspoonful of salt, dust lightly with pepper and put into oven. Put one-half cup of water in the pan and roast in full heat of oven. Baste once or twice during hour, then turn to low heat, put sweet potatoes in with meat and roast until cooked.

LAST MINUTE HELPS FOR THANKSGIVING

One of These Dishes May, at the Last Moment, Fit Into Thursday's Menu.

Most housewives, however careful they may be, generally find, the day before the feast, that a dish is needed to complete the Thanksgiving dinner menu.

Appreciating the convenience of having several types of recipes handy for dishes for the various courses, these recipes are offered for fillers in.

Fruit Cocktail.
Use one-half pound grapes, six pears, one-half cup seeded raisins, one-fourth cup lemon juice, one-half cup powdered sugar and one-half cup cold water.

Mix the sugar, water and lemon juice. Seed the grapes and cut the pears into small dice. Mix the grapes, pears and raisins and pour over them the first mixture. Let stand in the ice box until ready to serve. If the pears are very sweet, less sugar and more lemon juice will be required.

Jellied Cranberries.
Take one quart cranberries, two cups sugar and one quart water. Look over and wash the berries, mix with the sugar and water and stir over the flame until the sugar is dissolved. Cover closely and boil 12 minutes. Pour into a large mold or in individual molds, if desired.

Stuffing for Turkey.
Two quarts of bread crumbs taken from a stale loaf with a fork (do not use the crust).

Add to the crumbs six tablespoons salt one-quarter teaspoon pepper. Then add one and one-half cups melted butter. The juice from the turkey will be sufficient to moisten this stuffing.

Stuffed Onions.
Parboil the onions 10 minutes. Turn upside down to cool. Remove the centers and chop. Add buttered crumbs and seasonings. Fill the onions with the mixture, and bake 20 minutes.

Red Apple Salad.
Use six red apples, 12 ripe olives, one-half cup chopped walnut meats and one-fourth cup mayonnaise.

Cut a half inch from the end of the apple. Carefully remove the inside, leaving a wall about one-fourth inch thick.

Remove the core and cut the remaining apple into small pieces. Stone and cut fine the olives, add them to the apple, then the nuts.

Mix with the mayonnaise, fill the apple shells and place a whole walnut on the top of each. Serve on lettuce.

Cheese Straws.
Take one pound butter, two-thirds cup flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, one cup grated cheese, one cup fresh bread crumbs and two tablespoons milk.

Mix the seasonings with the flour, add the butter and mix. Then add the cheese and crumbs and lastly the milk.

OFTEN WOKE UP WITH A HEADACHE

Finally Took ALL-BRAN Instead of Drugs and Now "Couldn't Feel Better"

How much suffering constipation brings! Headaches, loss of strength and appetite. Sleeplessness. Often it leads to serious diseases. But here is one of the thousands who have suffered and found relief. Read this letter—

"I am 52 years old and have put in years suffering from constipation. Spent lots of money with doctors, bought all kinds of pills and drugged myself every night with morphine and woke up with a headache."

"I haven't taken one pill since I began on ALL-BRAN years ago. I am now feeling the best I have felt in 30 years. I eat heartily and nothing hurts me."—Albert F. Parker, 387 N. Gary St., Brockton, Mass.

It's never too late to try Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It is 100% bran and brings sure, natural relief from constipation. Because it is a bulk food it sweeps the system clean and stimulates normal action. Results guaranteed. Two tablespoons daily; or in chocolate coating with every meal. Doctors recommend it.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is ready to eat with milk or cream. Try the recipe on the package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Served in hotels, dining-rooms and restaurants. Sold by all grocers.

Thanksgiving Pudding.

Take one quart scalded milk, one and one-fourth cups fine cracker crumbs, one and one-half cups brown sugar, one and one-half cups seeded raisins, one-half cup melted butter, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg and one teaspoon salt.

Stir the cracker crumbs into the milk and let stand until cool. Beat the eggs slightly and add them and then the other ingredients. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven for two and a half hours.

Stir three times during the first half hour to prevent the raisins settling to the bottom.

Hard Sauce.
A nice hard sauce to serve with the pudding is made with three-fourths cup butter, one and one-half cup brown sugar, one teaspoon vanilla and one-fourth cup cream.

Cream the butter, add the sugar very slowly and then the cream and vanilla one-half a teaspoon at a time. Pile lightly in a serving dish and put in the icebox until served.

GOOD TONICS

A writer well versed in medical science declares that when poisons accumulate in the body it is the result of a breakdown somewhere in the eliminative system which can be repaired by swallowing sulphur or evigging saffra.

He says, "As far as the tonic properties of these drugs are concerned, they are nil. The best tonics are given by cows, laid by hens and grown on trees, vines and bushes. When these are taken in liberal amounts, no artificial makeshift is necessary."

There is no question but what many ills can be eliminated through proper diet and your doctor can help you to choose those foods which are best for you.

GOOD TONICS

A writer well versed in medical science declares that when poisons accumulate in the body it is the result of a breakdown somewhere in the eliminative system which can be repaired by swallowing sulphur or evigging saffra.

He says, "As far as the tonic properties of these drugs are concerned, they are nil. The best tonics are given by cows, laid by hens and grown on trees, vines and bushes. When these are taken in liberal amounts, no artificial makeshift is necessary."

There is no question but what many ills can be eliminated through proper diet and your doctor can help you to choose those foods which are best for you.

Always get your physician's advice before taking any medicine. Let us supply those things in the way of drugs or chemicals which may be prescribed.

SETTING THE TABLE FOR THE FEAST DAY

Properly Set Board Adds to the Attractiveness of the Meal.

It does not need elaborate table settings, expensive china or linen to make a table look attractive. The things that are necessary are cleanliness, orderly arrangement, good color scheme and close attention to detail.

For the Thanksgiving dinner, cover the table with a clean linen cloth, having the crease in the center of the cloth run the long way of the table, or if the table is round, run the long way of the room. Most persons like a special table decoration for holidays and for Thanksgiving the most appropriate to use is either a low bowl filled with autumn fruits, or a pumpkin hollowed out and filled with fruit, or a low bowl with chrysanthemums and colored leaves.

If it is possible to get any pretty sprays of hollyhocks, they make a lovely center piece.

Make place-cards by using the turkey pasters, pasting them on small white cards, writing in each person's name.

Individual favors made of little orange colored paper baskets to hold assorted nuts always look very pretty and add to the attractiveness of the table.

These must all be planned ahead of time as there is seldom time to do such things at the last moment and avoid confusion.

All but the dessert silver is placed on the table at the same time. Usually the dessert spoons or forks are placed on the plates with the dessert.

Now arrange the silver, placing the forks at the left of the knives at the right of each place, and allow about 10 inches or the width of the plate between the knives and forks. If there is more than one fork, place them according to the order in which they are used, putting the oyster fork on the outside, then the dinner fork, then the salad fork next to the plate.

Spoons are placed to the right of the knife, and they, too, are arranged in the order in which they are used; that is, teaspoon next to the knife and the soup spoon to the right of the teaspoon.

The water glass is placed at the tip of the knife and just above it, while the bread and butter plate occupies the same position on the left, being placed just over the fork.

Napkins are placed either alongside of the fork; that is, on the left, or they may be placed on the service plate or between the knife and fork if no service plate is used.

See that all the handles of the silver are at the same distance from the edge of the table and that the blades of the knives are turned with the cutting edge to the inside. Spoons must be placed with the bowls up.

Bread and butter knives are usually placed across the bread and butter plates, with the handles to the right.

Place cards may stand up against the water glass or they may be placed on the napkin.

PUMPKIN AND MINCE PIES EASILY MADE

Home Cooks Should Have No Fears About Making These Delicacies.

Rather complete directions for making mince or pumpkin pie, which, incidentally, can also be wholly or partially prepared a day in advance.

The same dough is used for either pie and it may be made up the day before ready for use, except for rolling out. Keep it in a covered dish or wrapped in wax paper. For a large two-crust pie, such as the mince, use two cups flour, one teaspoon salt, one-half cup shortening and water. Sift the flour and salt together. Work in the shortening until it is distributed throughout the flour in small lumps. Stir in just enough water to hold the mixture together. Divide dough in half and roll out on a floured board, one crust at a time. Fit the lower crust carefully into the pan. Fill with mince meat. (If you are using commercially prepared mince meat, add chopped apples or fruit juice of any kind, or any leftover bits of canned fruit.) Dampen the rim of the crust with water.

Place the upper crust on, cut off the dough which hangs over the edge of the pan. Fasten the two crusts together at the rim. Prick or slash the top so that the steam may escape and bake in a hot oven. Brushing the top with milk or water just before putting into the oven will give the crust an attractive glossy finish.

It is quite possible to bake a mince pie the day before it is served. If it is kept in a cold place, it will be almost as good when reheated as when freshly made. The pumpkin pie will have to be baked on Thanksgiving morning, for the filling soaks into the crust on long standing. The previously made up dough can be rolled out, the pan lined and the filling added. In order to further lighten this last-minute duty, the filling might be put together the day before and kept in the refrigerator.

Personal tastes influence the standards of a perfect pumpkin pie so much that it is difficult to formulate a recipe which everyone will like. For a mild flavored filling, this recipe is a good one, but for those who like it rich and dark, the spices will have to be increased and one tablespoon of molasses added.

The hardest part of making pumpkin pie is the baking. Like a custard pie, it must be put into a rather hot oven at first to set the filling quickly and bake the crust, then the heat should be greatly reduced to finish cooking the filling slowly. Pumpkin Pie Filling. Use two eggs, one and one-half cups canned pumpkin, three-fourths cup sugar, one-half teaspoon ginger, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon salt, one and one-half cups milk and one-fourth teaspoon cloves. Mix sugar, ginger, cinnamon and salt together; then add pumpkin (the canned variety is just as good and much easier to prepare than the fresh) and mix thoroughly. Add eggs beaten light, and last the milk. Fill the lined pie plate; put into hot oven and reduce heat after 10 minutes. Bake until set—about one hour.

Tomato Orange Cocktail. Chop fine enough tomato pulp to make four tablespoons, add to it two tablespoons of shredded orange pulp, one tablespoon of minced green peppers, two tablespoons of olive oil, two teaspoons of orange juice, a dash of salt and pepper and mayonnaise to moisten well. Serve very cold. Arrange in glasses with spears of endive standing up around the edges.

ROBBER AND CARD PLAYER KILLED IN HOLDUP OF GAME Man With Whom He Fought Resulted in Death of One of Two Companions Escaped.
NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—An attempted holdup of a card game today resulted in the death of one of three robbers and of one of their intended victims.

The robber, deserted by his two companions, remained to shoot it out with one of the card players, who had drawn a revolver. A bullet struck Antonio Lanza, one of the players, in the head and he died later in a hospital.

The hold-up man who was later identified as Anthony Moffa, chauffeur and barber, also fell mortally wounded. The man he shot it out with, Carbons Nicola, was not wounded.

EXPERTS SUGGEST BROADER SCOPE FOR MISSOURI U.

Report to Survey Commission Says It Should Aid Business and Cities in Solving Their Problems.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 25.—
Recommendations for progressive changes in the administrative policy of the State University were presented to the State Survey Commission today by the staff of educational experts from Columbia University, New York, in opening their report on an extensive survey of the entire educational facilities of the State.

A chief recommendation was that the scope of the university service be broadened to provide an informational service for business in solving business problems and for municipalities in the field of political science.

A failure of the present system in properly dealing with the individual students in the matter of directing their work toward the greatest possible accomplishment in view of the possibilities of the individual, was found, and a recommendation made that the board of curators establish a department for this work.

This part of the survey was conducted by Dr. Donald Cottrell, who presented a summary to an informal meeting of the commission, to be followed by a more detailed presentation at a formal meeting.

Dr. Cottrell's specific suggestions are:

A change in the fiscal year, which now begins Jan. 1. All university activities begin July 1, Dr. Cottrell said, and it was important that finances be handled on the basis of a year beginning then.

Appropriations should be made in a lump sum and the university authorities should prepare a carefully detailed budget. This would provide for freedom of administration and would permit the transfer of money from one fund to another to meet emergencies, impossible under the present system under which the Legislature designates the purposes for which appropriations shall be used.

The present budget system was found inadequate and the statement was made that it should be more carefully systematized.
A radical change in the method of establishing junior colleges was recommended, Dr. Cottrell urging that no city nor town should be permitted to have a junior college unless it obtained the approval of the Board of Curators of the University. He said that under the present system the colleges were springing up over the State in towns which had insufficient revenues to support them, that they were interfering with the high school work and were not in fact junior colleges.

The president of the university should be given complete authority to select the faculty members. The survey had shown that in some instances the board had chosen teachers over the head of the president.

The president should have an assistant who would take off his hands a volume of detail work which interferes with his more important duties.

Too little opportunity is now given for research work. A research committee should be formed to study the entire field of instruction, the budget and all details of administration.

A bureau of research and service to aid the public schools of the State should be established.

There should be a similar service established for business and for municipalities in their problems of business and political science. It was not proposed that this should extend to aid for individual business concerns, but should go to the several lines of industry.

A bureau of child welfare should be established, Dr. Cottrell said, to provide a service for the kindergartens and lower grades in the schools.

Particular attention was devoted to the medical school of the University, which now provides only two years of the medical course.
This, it was said, should be extended to a four year course with enlargement of the service to provide instruction for nurses general instruction in public health and for medical social workers.

In this part of the program it is proposed that there shall be erected in Columbia a state hospital, which would provide clinical facilities for medical students and a service for the state as a whole.
In the building program under consideration there is a tentative proposal for the expenditure within 10 years of $4,500,000 for such a hospital and a new building for the medical school.

Establishment of schools in dentistry and pharmacy also was recommended.

Next was the recommendation for greater service to individual students in personal direction and personal aid.

Creation of the positions of assistant registrar and assistant business manager of the university, provision for an annual inventory and the creation of a central receiving department in the nature of a central purchasing department were included in the recommendations.

The Survey Commission probably will be in session all of this week formulating the report which under the law must be in Gov. Caul-field's hands by next Saturday.

LANGLEY'S OF KENTUCKY KEEP 25TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

The Wife Is Serving in Congress as Successor to Husband; 200
Guests at Party.

PIKEVILLE, Ky., Nov. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. John Langley celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary at their home here Saturday night. There were approximately 200 guests.
Langley, who formerly represented this district in Congress and who was succeeded by his wife, who still is serving, was attired in the suit he was married in and Mrs.

Langley wore her wedding veil.
To Mrs. Langley was presented a pair of silver sugar tongs, which had been a wedding gift to members of the family in 1831, by Mrs.

William H. Haskins, of London, Ky., Langley's cousin. Mrs. Haskins had presented Mrs. Katherine Boyle, oldest daughter of the Langleys, with a pair of silver tongs that have been in the Langley family for 125 years.

Banks of this section gave a bank of silver dollars to the Langleys.

HEARTS HAVEN

By Mildred Barbour

The Struggle of The Heart and Conscience of Christine Farr

CHAPTER SEVEN. NEW HAPPINESS.

ONE evening several months later, Christine came downstairs to the living room an hour earlier than usual. She had been to have her coffee alone, while she hurried to the nursery.

In the kitchen, the maid-of-all-work was rattling the dishes, eager to be off for the evening.

Harvey was seated under the reading lamp, surrounded by official-looking papers over which he was poring with interest. His lighted cigarette on the edge of the table, was rapidly burning its way toward the wood.

Christine picked it up and supplied an ashtray.

Harvey glanced up with a grin. "Thought I was going to spoil your beautiful table, eh?"

"Well, it's a nice table—the nicest one I've ever had," she returned.

"But not by any manner of means the nicest one you will have, when my ship comes in," he boasted.

Her little, disdainful shrug showed her indifference to greater affluence. She perched on the arm of his chair and put her arms around his neck, looking for small hands under his chin.

"I don't want anything better than we have: I have all I need in the world—this adorable house and Junior and you," he said.

"I notice you rate me last," he laughed.

Her lips quivered in a smile, as if at some tender, secret thought; her eyes were shadowy and dreaming.

"Not quite last," she said softly. She bent closer to him, laid her lips against his ear and whispered.

His face showed his astonishment; in fact, his expression diminished her.

"Good Heavens, Christine, I never suspected! Where?" He took out a handkerchief and mopped his brow.

"But you don't seem pleased," she said.

"I WAS just thinking that it's a pity we'll have to miss a wonderful vacation. I was saving the news as a surprise for you. My chief is going to Europe later in the summer, so I have to take my vacation in June and June—our vice-president, you remember—is taking his at the same time and has asked you and me up to his place in the Adirondacks. It's a peach of a place. I've been looking forward to it a lot."

"But, darling, you must go. Everything will be over by that time, and mother will look after me faithfully."

"Nonsense!" he declared. "It would be nonsense not to. He said firmly, 'I won't have you miss your vacation. Mother and I will be here.'"

"He'll be here," he said. "He's gone back to Chicago."

"Back to Chicago?" she echoed. "Without saying good-by?"

"He began to move his papers about uneasily."

"Well, he was in a great rush."

PARIS MODES TODAY

Special Cable by Pierre LeBoux, Director of the Paris Fashion Board, and E. Winifred Boulter, Associate Director.

PARIS, Nov. 24.

"WHAT length skirt is most popular for evening?"

After observing groups of smartly clad women in the fashionable restaurants and clubs throughout Paris, we are still bewildered by the number and variety of answers to this vital fashion question.

It seems to have become a subject for dispute among individual members of families. The very young girls, with characteristic love of novelty, are wearing dresses of exaggerated length, while their mothers and older sisters seem determined to keep dresses short.

Then, the desire little frocks of black tulle or net with the "romantic modern" silhouette and skirts that touch the ground are extremely popular with the very young and very slender. Chanel's princess models are seen most often and Lelong's high-waisted model with flouncing from the waist is a close second. There are also a number of cleverly designed gowns that are very long but that, by accident of movement, occasionally show the leg almost to the knee. When the older woman makes a concession of wearing a long dress she must have one side cut so as to show more leg than usual. The more mature and less audacious women wear those skirts that arrange a definite frame for the leg, extremely short in front and adhering to the agreed length in the back.

With the long, sweeping lines of the dresses interest has been attracted to evening slippers and these are becoming more intricate and charming. For the most part, gowns are white or black and, therefore, many of the most chic French women are introducing a note of color in their slippers. A note of color in their slippers. IT TAKES TWO

IF we live long enough, we hope some day to hear of a public speaker (male).

Who has addressed an audience (male) and given it some good sound jolts.

On how to keep a wife's love. And how to make home happy. Women are so darned tired of having the truck of successful marriage forever passed to them—

Or being told perpetually what they should do, say and think in order "to hold their husbands."

Does anybody ever stop to consider that, just as it takes two to make a quarrel,

So it takes two to make a happy marriage—And all the effort and responsibility and self-sacrifice should NOT be put on the wife?

What inspires this special protest from us in the name of innumerable married women.

In the recent speech, to a Trenton audience of business women, by former Judge Harold Wells—

A speech in which Judge Wells pointed out that grouching is one of the main causes of divorce.

"Grouches fill the divorce courts today," he said.

Fair enough, but then the Judge continued as follows:

"The bad debt or lost-money grouch, which inspires the man with a many-dollar deficit to rage over the few cents his wife wastes."

The all-out-of-order grouch, stemming from a cold or a toothache. The kick-the-dog grouch, brought home from the office, where the man doesn't dare vent it.

The bad debt or lost-money grouch, which inspires the man with a many-dollar deficit to rage over the few cents his wife wastes."

The all-out-of-order grouch, stemming from a cold or a toothache. The kick-the-dog grouch, brought home from the office, where the man doesn't dare vent it.

MOLE

Whenever people speak of moles,
Most everybody thinks of holes,
For that is where a mole is found;
He lives in tunnels underground.

He leaves a ridge across the lawn
That shows exactly where he's gone,
And makes the gardener fuss and fume
And threaten moles with direful doom!

It's easy for a mole to dig Because his fore-paws are so big;
He burrows under plants and shrubs
To hunt for worms and juicy grubs.

His eyes are small and hard to find,
And scientists insist he's blind;
He goes by sound and sense of smell,
But really gets along quite well.

Gored Skirts Reappear

THE coat, skirt and blouse have become the outstanding costume as far as sports clothes for either town or country are concerned. And in them are incorporated most of the important style trends which mark this an epoch in fashions.

One's point of view must be changed to meet the new measurements and lines, however much the latest modes are modified. There are folk who heartily detest the gored skirt. It has arrived and it is as yet possible to steer past it, but mayhap not for long. Gores are handled ingeniously these days in ways which bells their customary ugliness.

Gored skirts are a rather sly way of slipping us back to modes of the past. They do permit fullness with little ripple to assure a smooth contour which is necessary when heavier trends are used. This treatment prevails also when softer materials make the suit.

A Soiled Felt Hat

Rub the hat lightly with very fine sandpaper, rubbing with the nap. Then rub over with a mixture of salt, cornmeal and gasoline, and let stand in the air for a while. If the hat is soiled beyond those helps, a good wash in a high test gasoline is about the only thing that will get out all the dirt.

VAPEX

delights children and relieves their colds instantly

NO MESSINESS, NO TROUBLESOME DOSING WITH THIS DELIGHTFUL INHALANT

VAPEX is a boon to mothers because it is so pleasant, convenient and efficacious. For children's colds—so common during the winter, so fraught with peril—VapeX affords swift, easy relief. Just a drop on the children's handkerchiefs—just a drop on their blouses when you send them to school—just a drop at each end of their pillows at night—and they breathe their colds away! The VapeX vapor kills the germs of common colds.

... The children like VapeX for its crisp, clean odor—bracing as mountain air. You'll like it too.

... Keep as free from colds as possible. At the first sign of a sniffle or sneeze, buy the $1 bottle of VapeX containing fifty applications at your druggist's. Always insist on V-A-P-E-X, in the trim white box with the green triangle. Don't expect the same results with cheaper imitations. ... Distributed in the United States by E. Daily Story FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner

Winter Sleep

I WAS very, very quiet. The Little Black Clock had not said a word but he had led the way to a field by a patch of woods.

Peggy and John had followed him, making hardly a sound. They felt the Little Black Clock wanted them to be very quiet.

After they had reached the field he sat down, and they sat down, too.

"There!" he said, after a moment. "It's all right now."

"Why have you been so quiet?" John asked.

"I only turned the time back a very little bit," the Little Black Clock said. He had, you know, the magic power of being able to turn the time backward or forward when he took the children off for adventures.

"I didn't want to disturb any of them," he explained.

John and Peggy hadn't the slightest idea what he meant, but the Little Black Clock continued speaking.

"The members of the woodchuck family, the members of the prairie dog family, the frogs, the bears, and many, many others have gone to sleep for the winter, and I did not want to disturb them."

"When they go to bed for their winter sleep they do not wish to be awakened until the early spring, so I thought we would be very, very quiet. But they're all sound asleep by now, and some one is coming here to see us." And he caught the children's surprised glances.

"I arranged the meeting place. He's coming now! Do you see him?"

"Where?" the children asked, as they looked about them.

Creamed Spinach

We mothers have this vegetable so often for the benefit of our babies that it must be varied to continue to be interesting. Wash thoroughly and cut off root ends. Then wash several times to remove every trace of grit. Cook until tender in its own juice. Drain and chop very fine. Melt three tablespoons butter, add chopped spinach and cook for a few minutes. Sprinkle with three tablespoons flour, one teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon pepper. Mix thoroughly and then add one cup milk. Cook for three minutes, stirring constantly. Serve immediately.

THE BEAUTY SHOP

By Frances Olmsted

"BEFORE AND AFTER"

A LITTLE parable about a lady who reduced.

Her husband—a painter of the old school—though her figure was pretty close to perfect. But her "dearest friend"—and her thinnest—came back from Paris with a yarn about how lean all the man-queens were. And she murmured considerably about a certain reducing medicine used by these ladies whose figures make their fortunes.

That was enough for our heroine. She had to have those capules—at any cost. They cost her husband a picture he wanted for himself. What they eventually cost the lady herself, constitutes the crux of this story.

Well, to shorten the tale, she got thin. So thin that she had to have an entire new wardrobe. So changed that people who saw her every week of her life began telling her, "My dear I shouldn't have known you!" So changed in face and form and disposition that her husband became first alarmed and finally disgusted.

Today, my darling, she is in a sanitarium, this reduction figure gussing milk, eggs and all the sweets and starches on the menu. And how her husband avoided being committed to an insane asylum, only his best friend could tell you. You'd reduced all right. She reduced herself to a rag and a bone.

She reduced her husband's love almost to nil. And she reduced her spirits to the point where chronic melancholia began.

Now if this sounds like propaganda against reducing medicines we don't mean it to. If propaganda at all, it is directed against silly.

stupid, harmful reducing of any sort. As a matter of fact, there are in the world two or three brands of reducing pills which are made of reducing pure water. Much as I should like to, we are not at liberty to divulge their names, though. We not even in a private letter to you. So please don't ask us to will you?

There are remarkable reducing baths, too, which we wish we had permission to tell you the names of. However, here's a hint: Ask your family physician. If you are a sensible woman and not a fribble, you'll like the heroine of our parable today, you will not so much as consider reducing your weight without first consulting your physician. For strenuous exertion may possibly affect your heart, and only heaven knows what thinning diets may do to your blood.

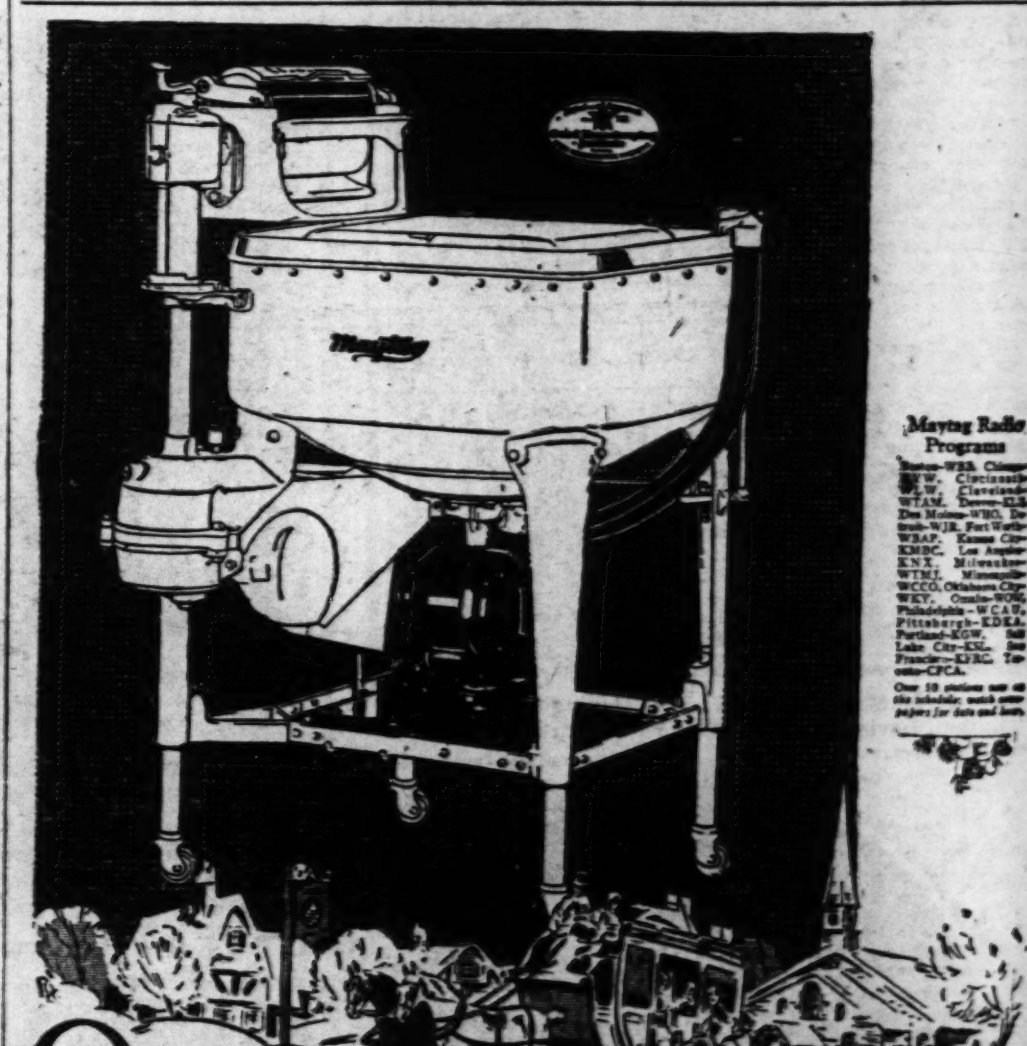

Beaded Sleeves

NETS and cobwebby materials very often form a good part of the bodice in formalized frocks for social evenings. The black crepe gown is stunning when the full net sleeves, joined to the upper arm, are brilliantly traced in crystal beading.

These jeweled sleeves are a remnant of fashions long past and bring a new charm to the mode. Their fulness which reaches the wrist is held in at the wrist by a narrow cuff or banding which lends an air of aristocracy to the hand.

A Lone Cave Man in the Canadian Wilds

By Burt McConnell

As the end of McConnell's adventure in back-to-nature as a "Modern Cave-man," approaches his thoughts are turning to the civilization he left behind some months ago. He has a lot of time to think up here in the woods of Northern Quebec. In this article he has set down some of the random ideas which run through his head.

By BURT MCCONNELL.

BEAR-TRAP LAKE PORTAGE, Que.

WHEN I came up here, seven weeks ago, they were planning to hold an election in New York City; wonder if it came off. I haven't seen a newspaper since Sept. 15. Nor a radio. Nor a coule and a sh. Nor a tooth. Nor a piece of soap, or other civilized necessities. All my friends are "raising" me for their time. I suppose I look like a wild man. I've lost about 12 pounds and five inches of waist. And with the exception of the first week, I've had a most enjoyable time. I can highly recommend the meat-diet for one who wants to reduce. Which reminds me: I wonder what the folks are having for dinner tonight? It looks as if we are going to miss that turkey and pumpkin pie on Thanksgiving. Let's see, I shall have to get out my Tuxedo and overcoat. I'll put on the steam trunk! That's the worst of having no trunks; you never know where they are. Maybe my wife has them. I suppose I shall have my evening clothes altered at the new waist-line—or order new full-dress outfit. Heavy! I may have to order a complete wardrobe. That's a lot of money. I shall have to get back to normal weight. What staggering thought—to a person of Scotch descent!...

COME to think of it, I am back to normal in many ways. When I left the Big Town early in September, I was in what was, for a highly nervous condition. I had a change. Ten years in the office were showing their cumulative effect. I was in a rut, I had the desire to get close to nature, and live simply for a couple of months among the aromatic woods and balsam of the North. I was just what I needed. When I came up here, I slept twelve hours each night. Gradually, as I penetrated the hours of slumber, I was naturally cut from twelve to eight hours.
